The Americans: The National Experience Daniel J. Boorstin, 1967-02-12 This second volume in The Americans trilogy deals with the crucial period of American history from the Revolution to the Civil War Here we meet the people who shaped and were shaped by the American experience the versatile New Englanders the Transients and the Boosters Winner of the Francis Parkman Prize The Americans Daniel J. Boorstin, 1958 The Americans Daniel Joseph Boorstin, 1987 The National Review, 1885 The Americans Daniel J. Boorstin, 1969 The American Church Review Volume XLII July-December, 1883 Whole Number 151 Rev. Henry Mason Baum, Edited By., 1883 The Americans Daniel Joseph Boorstin, 2000 This second volume in The Americans trilogy deals with the crucial period of American history from the Revolution to the Civil War Here we meet the people who shaped and were shaped by the American experience the versatile New Englanders the Transients and the Boosters The Americans Daniel Joseph Boorstin, 1966 Miseducating Americans Richard F. Hamilton, 2015-01-31 In Miseducating Americans Richard F. Hamilton examines accounts of American history appearing in textbooks and popular accounts and compares these with the reports contained in scholarly monographs The task to determine how certain myths and misconstructions became accepted as recorded history Hamilton provides much needed correction of those misleading accounts Was America historically the land of the free Not if you take into account slavery discrimination and post Civil War segregation policies Was America in the late nineteenth century truly expansionist as American textbooks imply or did it actually capitalize on unexpected political and economic opportunities like Russia's desire to rid itself of Alaska Was the acquisition of the Philippines a zealous profit seeking effort aiming for the China market or the fortuitous consequences of a move against Spain during the Spanish American War Miseducating Americans debunks many commonly accepted explanations of historical facts It contends that many accounts are oversimplifications and some are one sided depictions of virtue Hamilton traces the sources of these misconstructions which mostly come from history textbooks written by authors aiming for popular audiences He then offers explanations as to how and why the inaccuracies have been repeated and passed on The Dance with Community Robert Booth Fowler, 1991-07-25 Contemporary intellectuals have rushed to embrace the concept of community What does this tell us about American political thought Why are intellectuals uneasy with modern liberal individualism and its institutional policy results Why is political intellectual discourse dominated today by complaint In The Dance with Community Robert Booth Fowler reflects upon these and related questions My goal he writes is to present contemporary political thought about community for what it is a conversation interactive spirited and sometimes tough There have been many interpretations of the much discussed decline in community spirit Rather than offer another Fowler steps back to look at the debate itself He examines from the perspective of an intellectual historian the attention to community in current American political thought and explores the setting of that attention He also identifies five alternative models of community integral to the current debates and sketches a clear image of each its relationship to others the logic of its appeal and its emphases and problems In each instance he places the model into the larger conversation over alternative communities and the value of community itself Prologue ,1995 Immigration, Assimilation, and the Cultural Construction of American National

Identity Shannon Latkin Anderson,2015-11-19 Over the course of the 20th century there have been three primary narratives of American national identity the melting pot Anglo Protestantism and cultural pluralism multi culturalism This book offers a social and historical perspective on what shaped each of these imaginings when each came to the fore and which appear especially relevant early in the 21st century These issues are addressed by looking at the United States and elite notions of the meaning of America across the 20th century centering on the work of Horace Kallen Nathan Glazer and Daniel Patrick Moynihan and Samuel P Huntington Four structural areas are examined in each period the economy involvement in foreign affairs social movements and immigration What emerges is a narrative arc whereby immigration plays a clear and crucial role in shaping cultural stories of national identity as written by elite scholars These stories are represented in writings throughout all three periods and in such work we see the intellectual development and specification of the dominant narratives along with challenges to each Important conclusions include a keen reminder that identities are often formed along borders both external and internal that structure and culture operate dialectically and that national identity is hardly a monolithic static formation The Americans ,1967 The American Catalogue ,1891 The American church review

Rev. Henry Mason Baum,1882 Postwar American Fiction and the Rise of Modern Conservatism Bryan M. Santin,2021-03-11 Bryan M Santin examines over a half century of intersection between American fiction and postwar conservatism He traces the shifting racial politics of movement conservatism to argue that contemporary perceptions of literary form and aesthetic value are intrinsically connected to the rise of the American Right Instead of casting postwar conservatives as cynical hustlers or ideological fanatics Santin shows how the long term rhetorical shift in conservative notions of literary value and prestige reveal an aesthetic antinomy between high culture and low culture This shift he argues registered and mediated the deeper foundational antinomy structuring postwar conservatism itself the stable social order of traditionalism and the creative destruction of free market capitalism Postwar conservatives produced in effect an ambivalent double register in the discourse of conservative literary taste that sought to celebrate neo aristocratic manifestations of cultural capital while condemning newer more progressive manifestations revolving around racial and ethnic diversity
