Toselli, 2013-11-11 Within the framework of Ispra Courses a course on Applications of Remote Sensing to Agrometeorology was held from April 6th to 10th 1987 at the Joint Research Centre of the European Communities Ispra Italy The purpose of the course was to familiarize scientists active in Agrometeorology and related fields with remote sensing techniques and their potential applications in their respective disciplines Conventional ground investigations in various fields of natural sciences such as hydrology pedology and agrometeorology can be supplemented by a range of instruments carried by airborne or earth orbiting platforms The last few years in particular have seen many developments in this respect and a growing amount of information can now be derived not only from dedicated earth resources satellites such as the LANDSAT and SPOT but also from other platforms such as METEOSAT and the series of NOAA TIROS Future platforms ERS 1 Space Station etc with their advanced sensors will further broaden the range of applications open to the investigators The use of these data sources together with field investigations can lead at a reduced cost to a better characterization of the spatial and temporal properties of natural systems
