The Philosophers Gaze Modernity In The Shadows Of Enlightenment:

The Philosopher's Gaze David Michael Levin, 2023-04-28 David Michael Levin's ongoing exploration of the moral character and enlightenment potential of vision takes a new direction in The Philosopher's Gaze. Levin examines texts by Descartes, Husserl, Wittgenstein, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Benjamin Merleau-Ponty and Levinas using our culturally dominant mode of perception and the philosophical discourse it has generated as the site for his critical reflections on the moral culture in which we are living. In Levin's view, all these philosophers attempted to understand one way or another the distinctive pathologies of the modern age. But every one also attempted to envision, if only through the faintest of traces, traces of mutual recognition, traces of another way of looking and seeing the prospects for a radically different lifeworld. The world, after all, inevitably reflects back to us the character, the reach and range of our vision. In these provocative essays, the author draws on the language of hermeneutical phenomenology and at the same time refines phenomenology itself as a method of working with our experience and thinking critically about the culture in which we live.

David Michael Levin's ongoing exploration of the moral character and enlightenment potential of vision takes a new direction in The Philosopher's Gaze. Levin examines texts by Descartes, Husserl, Wittgenstein, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Benjamin Merleau-Ponty and Virginia Woolf and the Aesthetics of Vision. Claudia Olk, 2014-08-19 The category of vision is significant for Modernist texts as well as for the unfolding discourse of Modernism itself. Within the general Modernist fascination with the artistic and experimental possibilities of vision and perception, this study looks at Virginia Woolf's novels and her critical writings and examines the relation between visuality and aesthetics. An aesthetics of vision, as this study argues, becomes a productive principle of narrative. The visual is not only pertinent to Woolf's processes of composition but her works create a kind of vision that is proper to the text itself: a vision that reflects on the experience of seeing and renegotiates the relation between the reader and the text. The study investigates key dimensions of aesthetic vision. It addresses vision in the context of theories of aesthetic experience and identifies a semantics of seeing. It analyses functions of symbolic materiality in the presentation of boundaries of perception, modes of temporality and poetic potentialities. In exploring the connections between vision and language, it seeks to provide new perspectives for a reassessment of what occurs in Modernism's relation to vision.

Allegories of the Anthropocene Elizabeth M. DeLoughrey, 2019-06-28 Elizabeth M. DeLoughrey traces how indigenous and postcolonial peoples in the Caribbean and Pacific Islands grapple with the enormity of colonialism and anthropogenic climate change through art, poetry and literature by using allegorical narratives.

Narrating the Visual in Shakespeare Richard Meek, 2017-03-02 This book examines Shakespeare's fascination with the art of narrative and the visuality of language. Richard Meek complicates our conception of Shakespeare as either a man of the theatre or a literary dramatist, suggesting ways in which his works themselves debate the question of text versus performance. Beginning with an exploration of the pictorialism of Shakespeare's narrative poems, the book goes on to examine several moments in Shakespeare's dramatic works when characters break off the action to describe an absent offstage event place or work of art Meek argues that Shakespeare does not simply prioritise drama over other forms of representation but rather that he repeatedly exploits the interplay between different types of mimesis narrative dramatic and pictorial in order to beguile his audiences and readers Setting Shakespeare's works in their literary and rhetorical contexts and engaging with contemporary literary theory the book offers new readings of Venus and Adonis The Rape of Lucrece Hamlet King Lear and The Winter's Tale The book will be of particular relevance to readers interested in the relationship between verbal and visual art theories of representation and mimesis Renaissance literary and rhetorical culture and debates regarding Shakespeare's status as a literary dramatist

Schelin,2019-02-13 In order to understand vision we have to look into concepts of blindness both diegetically in typical film characters and in the representation of sight or lack thereof A critical historical investigation into theories of vision shows that the way we understand visuality today scientifically and culturally is very different from pre modern notions and practices In this book Dago Schelin questions categories such as active and passive vision tactile visuality as well as blind vision and discusses them alongside a variety of movies that deal with vision and blindness Is there a connection between the filmmaker s gaze and an older pre Keplerian ontology of vision What is the role of sound in vision Are our eyes mere camcorders or might they be projectors These and other questions comprise the fascinating journey on which this study embarks International Philosophical Quarterly ,2003 The World at a Glance Edward S. Vision, Gender and Power in Nineteenth-century American Women's Writing, 1860-1900 Birgit Spengler, 2008 Vision and visual practices form a constant topic in the fiction of 19th century American female authors Based on Michel Foucault's assumption that an epistemic shift in the visual organisation of power and knowledge marks the onset of modernity and on developments in visual technology and philosophical reasoning this study explores the ways in which issues of vision are addressed by American women writers before the ostensible visual turn of the late 19th and early 20th centuries Authors such as Elizabeth Stoddard Lousia May Alcott Harriet Prescott Spofford Metta Fuller Victor and Anna Katharine Green demonstrate a fundamental concern with the epistemological social and gender implications of visual practices In their works vision is exposed as a social and cultural practice a means of power and control that structures social relations in gender class and race specific ways However these authors also explore strategies of resistance and modes of empowerment through visual practices 19th century American women writers thus anticipate concerns that became dominant around the turn of the century and provide an important tradition upon which late 19th century innovators such as Edith Wharton and Henry James could build upon
