Masters of Political Science Donatella Campus, Gianfranco Pasquino, 2009-09-01 For a while now political science as a discipline has been big enough in terms of the number of academics and analytically mature enough to justify reflections on and reviews of its achievements In fact there is no lack of general handbooks dictionaries and state of the art assessments as well as reflective journals such as the ECPR's own European Political Science which are useful in helping us to understand and evaluate where we currently are and where we might still need to go The focus of these texts however is on particular concepts themes research areas institutions or behaviour What they rarely do is indulge in a critical reflection on the political scientists themselves especially those who are commonly accepted as having made the most significant contributions to the growth of their discipline This book fills an important gap in the growing reflective literature on the political science discipline it consists of a series of objective profiles of the Masters of Political Science written by political scientists who have read and studied their work and who are therefore in a position to evaluate the nature of their contributions The Masters Robert Dahl Anthony Downs David Easton S E Finer Samuel P Huntington Juan J Linz Seymour Martin Lipset Giovanni Sartori Sidney Verba Aaron Wildavsky Hans Morgenthau Masters of Political Science was originally published in Italian by il Mulino Publishing House The Presidency and the Political System Michael Nelson, 2020-07-17 The Presidency and the Political System showcases the best of presidential studies and research with top notch presidency scholars writing specifically for an undergraduate audience Michael Nelson rigorously edits each contribution to present a set of analytical

Meeting,1986 If at one time we thought that the movement to science would yield unification of the discipline it is now apparent that there are many roads to science Still it is important for us to consider yet again what the appropriate goals are for our scientific enterprise What works in theory building induction and deduction prediction and control the search for useful principles to guide us examining these questions we can build a better science Political science has come so far as a discipline that different schools and scholars have different interpretations of science in the study of politics and that diversity is important to maintain Advances made in the study of political institutions and behavior are described in 12 essays from the 1983 annual meeting of the American Political Science Association They do not employ any single approach to the study of the science of politics Taken as a whole they illustrate the multiplicity of interpretations that are presently given to the common enterprise
