paying for the print run himself after publishers turned him down The book opened his seven volume cycle In Search of Lost Time and brought a new kind of stream of consciousness writing to French literature Its famous madeleine scene showed how a taste or smell can bring the past flooding back and has been quoted ever since Set in the quiet country town of Combray and the glittering drawing rooms of Paris on the eve of the First World War Swann's Way follows the unnamed narrator from childhood bedtime rituals to the adult world of art jealousy and social climbing Proust paints evenings scented with hawthorn and conversations muffled by heavy curtains then zooms in on Charles Swann a cultured bachelor whose love for the alluring Odette de Cr cy tangles him in suspicion and longing First printed by Bernard Grasset after Proust financed the run himself the novel startled critics with sentences that wander for half a page yet feel as light as cigarette smoke showing that memory is not a list of dates but a living current surging from a crumb of cake soaked in tea Often translated as The Way by Swann's in early English editions the book paved the road for modern writers from Joyce to Woolf and still speaks to anyone who has felt time slip away while trying to hold on to a passing sensation This critical reader's edition presents a modern translation of the original manuscript crafted for the contemporary reader with lucid language and streamlined sentences that illuminate Proust's intricate French syntax and period specific allusions Supplementary material enriches the text with autobiographical historical and linguistic context including an afterword by the translator on Proust's personal history cultural impact and intellectual legacy an index of the philosophical concepts he weaves highlighting his explorations of memory time and the influence of Henri Bergson a comprehensive chronological list of his published writings and a detailed timeline of his life emphasizing the friendships and social circles that shaped his artistic vision
