Vienna Zocalo - Critical Crafting as a postcolonial strategy ,2012    Clothing and Fashion José Blanco F.,Patricia Kay Hunt-Hurst,Heather Vaughan Lee,Mary Doering,2015-11-23 This unique four volume encyclopedia examines the historical significance of fashion trends revealing the social and cultural connections of clothing from the precolonial times to the present day This sweeping overview of fashion and apparel covers several centuries of American history as seen through the lens of the clothes we wear

Through four detailed volumes this work delves into what people wore in various periods in our country's past and why. From hand crafted family garments in the 1600s to the rough clothing of slaves to the sophisticated textile designs of the 21st century. More than 100 fashion experts and clothing historians pay tribute to the most notable garments, accessories, and people comprising design and fashion. The four volumes contain more than 800 alphabetical entries with each volume representing a different era. Content includes fascinating information such as that beginning in 1619 through 1654 every man in Virginia was required to plant a number of mulberry trees to support the silk industry in England; what is known about the clothing of enslaved African Americans; and that there were regulations placed on clothing design during World War II. Textiles and Clothing Ellen Beers McGowan, Charlotte Augusta Waite (A.), 1919      Creating African Fashion Histories
JoAnn McGregor, Heather Akou, Nicola Stylianou, 2022-04-05. Creating African Fashion Histories examines the stark disjuncture between African self fashioning and museum practices. Conventionally, African clothing, textiles, and body adornments were classified by museums as examples of trade goods, art, and ethnographic materials, never as fashion. Counterposing the dynamism of African fashion with museums' historic holdings thus provides a unique way of confronting ways in which coloniality persists in knowledge and institutions today. This volume brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars and curators to debate sources and approaches for constructing African fashion histories and to examine their potential for decolonizing museums' fashion studies and global cultural history. The editors of this volume seek to answer questions such as: How can researchers use museum collections to reveal traces of past self fashioning that are obscured by racialized forms of knowledge and institutional practice? How can archival, visual, oral, ethnographic, and online sources be deployed to capture the diversity of African sartorial pasts? How can scholars and curators decolonize the Eurocentric frames of thinking encapsulated in historic collections and current curricula? Can new collections of African fashion decolonize museum practice From Moroccan fashion bloggers to upmarket Lagos designers the voices in this ground breaking collection reveal fascinating histories and geographies of circulation within and beyond the continent and its diasporic communities
