That Near And Distant Place:

Some Far and Distant Place Jonathan S. Addleton, 2002-09-01 Born in Pakistan to Baptist missionaries from rural Georgia Jonathan S Addleton crossed the borders of race culture class and religion from an early age Some Far and Distant Place combines family history social observation current events and deeply personal commentary to tell an unusual coming of age story that has as much to do with the intersection of cultures as it does with one man's life Whether sharing ice cream with a young Benazir Bhutto or selling gospel tracts at the tomb of a Sufi saint Addleton provides insightful and sometimes hilarious glimpses into the Muslim Christian encounter through the eyes of a young child His narrative is rooted in many unlikely sources including a southern storytelling tradition Urdu ghazal revivalist hymnology and the Anglican Book of Common Prayer The natural beauty of the Himalayas also leaves a strong and lasting mark providing solidity in a confusing world that on occasion seems about to tilt out of control This clear eyed insightful memoir describes an experience that will become increasingly more common as cultures that once seemed remote and distant are no longer confined within the bounds of a single nation state

The Charisma of Distant Places Courtney Luckhardt, 2019-07-15 This cultural history of early medieval travel and religion reveals how movement affected society demonstrating the connectedness of people and regions between 500 and 850 CE In The Charisma of Distant Places Courtney Luckhardt enriches our understanding of migration through her examination of religious movement Vertical links to God and horizontal links to distant regions identified religious travelers both men and women as holy connected to the human and the divine across physical and spiritual distances Using textual sources material culture and place studies this project is among the first to contextualize the geographic and temporal movement of early medieval people to reveal the diversity of religious travel from the voluntary journeys of pilgrims to the forced travel of Christian slaves Luckhardt offers new ways of understanding ideas about power holiness identity and mobility during the transformation of the Roman world in the global Middle Ages By focusing on the religious dimensions of early medieval people and the regions they visited this book addresses probing questions including how and why medieval people communicated and connected with one another across boundaries both geographical and imaginative
