Sous Haute Protection:

, The Language of Cosmetics Advertising Helen Ringrow, 2016-09-28 This book offers a cross cultural comparison of French and British cosmetics advertisements and explores how the discourse of beauty advertising represents ideas about femininity in French and English language contexts As the global beauty industry expands and consumers become more critical of the claims made the topic of cosmetics advertising discourse is examined using Feminist Critical Discourse Analysis One common theme underlying most cosmetics advertising discourse is that the female body always requires work to fix its problems flat skin dry hair and so on The author uses themes of language and gender media and identity and advertising across cultures to expose exactly what is going on in the language of cosmetics advertising and to offer a first step towards challenging these ideas and thinking about alternatives

The Dynamics of International Criminal Justice Hiram Abtahi, Gideon Boas, Richard May (LL. B.), 2006 This book is dedicated to the memory of Sir Richard May who passed away on 1 July 2004 and to the rich legacy he has left behind in the area of international criminal law It contains in depth analyses of a range of issues critical to the development and understanding of international criminal law written by contributors who worked in some way with Sir Richard during his tenure at the ICTY particularly during his last years as Presiding Judge of the Milosevi Trial It contains a Foreword by the President of the ICTY Theodor Meron and substantive work in three main parts one chapter concerning the development and understanding of human rights five chapters addressing international criminal law issues in the context of ICTY proceedings and two chapters focusing on substantive aspects of international criminal law All the chapters analyse international criminal law as applied by the ICTY as well as the ICC ICTR and other international or hybrid criminal tribunals and are all authored by persons in a position to give great insight into the subject matter discussed

Jean-Marie Duthilleul and Etienne Tricaud Jean-Marie Duthilleul, Etienne Tricaud, François Lamarre, 2008 Founded in January 1997 by architect engineers Jean Marie Duthilleul and Etienne Tricaud AREP Group is a multidisciplinary design practice specializing in urban development and construction AREP's diverse body of work can be found across Europe and Asia

Crime, Victims and Justice Marijke Malsch, 2017-03-02 Victims of crime are still marginalized in criminal law practice even though an increasingly large number of legislatures have introduced reforms on their behalf This collection of papers from some of the leading experts in the field sets out to provide a better understanding of the problems associated with restorative justice with the aim of improving criminal law in the area Questions asked include whether retribution may be plausibly reinterpreted as restoration by offenders on behalf of victims the relationship between criminal law and tort law and issues relating to the rights of victims

International Criminal Law Gideon Boas, 2003 At the dawn of the International Criminal Court the rich experience of the ad hoc International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia ICTY will prove to be the primary source of legal authorities for many years The creation of the ICTY in 1993 heralded a new found willingness of the international community to bring to book perpetrators of war crimes and gross or systematic violations of human rights Written by academics and practitioners and notably many insiders at the ICTY this volume focuses particularly on the international and criminal law developments that have taken place in the practice and procedure of the Tribunal Throughout are threads concerning the development and application of international criminal law not only by the ICTY but also by the ad hoc International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda and the new

International Criminal Court Le Guide Musical, 1875 The Role of France in the Rwandan Genocide Daniela Krosalak, 2007 After the Holocaust the victorious Allies pledged Never Again to genocide This promise enshrined in the UN Convention on Genocide stipulates a responsibility to try and prevent genocide or mitigate the suffering of its victims in the future The book analyses what this responsibility might entail by asking the following questions To what extent can external actors such as the French Government be held responsible for not preventing or not suppressing genocide and how can this responsibility be evaluated Why almost fifty years after the Genocide Convention did outsiders remain passive whilst Hutu extremists perpetrated genocide against the Tutsi minority and Hutu moderates in Rwanda How can French government responsibility be evaluated in the light of its actions inaction What was France's role The book explores the historical and contextual background of the Rwandan genocide and French involvement in Africa and then elaborates three key themes the extent of French government's information about the preparation of the genocide and its awareness of the scale of the potential disaster the degree of involvement by the French government during and before the genocide and the level of French diplomatic and military capability to halt or suppress both the preparations for genocide and the genocide itself The Role of France in the Rwandan Genocide concludes by drawing the reader's attention to the fact that the Never Again pledge does not only incorporate a duty in terms of prevention and suppression of genocide It also encompasses responsible policies towards a post genocidal regime which might use the guilt of previously passive external actors to defend its own atrocities such as Rwanda's campaign in the Democratic Republic of Congo British and Foreign State Papers Great Britain.
