South African Farming:

South African Farming Anthony Hocking, 1975 Gives a historical overview of all aspects of farming in South Africa practices followed and includes colour photographs Publication will aid learners with primary education assignments The relationship between farm size and efficiency in south african agriculture Johan Van Zyl, Hans P.

Binswanger-Mkhize, Hans P. Binswanger, Colin G. Thirtle, 1995 South African Farming South Africa. Department of Agricultural Technical Services, 196? The Uncomfortable Truth about South Africa's Agriculture Wandile Sihlobo, Johann Kirsten, 2025-03-10 Wandile Sihlobo and Johann Kirsten chose to write The Uncomfortable Truth about South Africa's Agriculture in a candid direct and unfiltered tone not out of disregard but with the hope of stirring South African agricultural stakeholders from inertia that may have taken hold over time One clear example of inertia is the endless policy discussions When the government proposes policy positions either good or bad time is spent discussing these policies instead of anything substantive being done The divisions amongst South African farmer organisations is the core issue behind the interminable conversations and this results in a performance of productivity among participants in these meetings creating an impression of progress simply because discussions are taking place While politicians and farmer representatives debate farmers suffer the unemployed languish and small towns crumble Poor roads and rising costs choke market access while collapsing municipalities pile pressure on agribusinesses Things don't have to be this way and the South African agricultural sector still has great potential to grow increase employment and revitalise the rural economy This book will empower the reader with a clearer understanding of the agricultural constraints and how to overcome them and mobilise the much needed sectorial focus to implementation While the contents may be uncomfortable for some this book is intended to ignite an urgent call for decisive policy and programme implementation and to demand stronger collaboration among social partners

Zimbabwe's Migrants and South Africa's Border Farms Maxim Bolt, 2015-09-25 This book addresses the complex labour and life conditions faced by workers in the agricultural borderlands of northern South Africa Indigenous Knowledge on the South African Landscape Tim Hart, Ineke Vorster, 2006 The paper looks primarily at recent examples of agricultural practices in which resource poor agrarian householders have used their indigenous knowledge as well as innovations to overcome many of the socioeconomic political and environmental constraints they experience Finding Common Ground Wandile Sihlobo, 2020-04-01 My hope is that people can grow to appreciate this sector its challenges and opportunities but most importantly the role agriculture can play in improving South Africa's rural economy creating jobs and bringing about much needed transformation or inclusive growth Wandile Sihlobo is perfectly positioned to provide a well rounded accessible view of agriculture in South Africa He spent his school holidays in the rural Eastern Cape studied agricultural economics at university has worked in private sector agriculture consulting with farmers across the country and has been an adviser to government as part of South African policymaking bodies Finding Common Ground is a selection of key articles from Sihlobo's regular Business Day column framed with insightful commentary and context. The book covers the broad themes that have marked current discussions and outlines the challenges and opportunities faced by South Africa's agricultural sector including The contentious and complex issue of land reform The potential for new leadership to revive the sector How agriculture can drive development and job creation Cannabis as an exportable commodity The urgent need for agricultural policy to address gender equity and youth involvement Technological developments and megatrends that are underpinning agricultural development The importance of trade in growing South Africa's agriculture and Key lessons that South Africa and other African countries can learn from one another Ultimately Sihlobo is optimistic about the future of South Africa's agricultural sector and shows us all from policymakers to the general public how much common ground we truly have

Board,1922 Farm Management in South Africa E. Sewell Dawson,1931 Farming in South Africa ,1970 The Political Economy Of U.s. Policy Toward South Africa Kevin Danaher,2019-07-11 By tracing U S involvement in South African political and economic development since the late 1800s this book analyzes U S corporate and government motives for maintaining the political status quo in South Africa In recent decades according to the author U S policy toward South Africa has grown more contradictory Endeavoring to protect the United States's reputation on the question of race government officials denounce apartheid yet Washington remains the main force blocking an international response to South African policies As the situation in South Africa continues to polarize the U S is increasingly isolated in its position of verbally condemning yet materially supporting South Africa's white minority regime a regime confronting the distinct possibility of civil war

Sikora,Eugene R. Terry,Paul L.G. Vlek,Joyce Chitja,2019-11-27 This book provides a synthesis of the key issues and challenges facing agriculture and food production in Southern Africa Southern Africa is facing numerous challenges from diverse issues such as agricultural transformations growing populations urbanization and climate change These challenges place great pressure on food security agriculture water availability and other natural resources as well as impacting biodiversity Drawing on case studies from Lesotho Malawi Mozambique Namibia South Africa Swaziland Tanzania Zambia and Zimbabwe the chapters in this book consider these challenges from an interdisciplinary perspective covering key areas in constraints to production the most important building blocks of good farming practices and established and emerging technologies This book will be a valuable support for informing new policies and processes aimed at improving food production and security and developing sustainable agriculture in Southern Africa This informative volume will be key reading for those interested in agricultural science African studies rural studies development studies and sustainability It will also be a valuable resource for policymakers governmental and nongovernmental organizations and agricultural practitioners This title has been made available as Open Access under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CCBY NC ND license and can be accessed here <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780429401701>    Extraterritorial investments in agriculture in Africa: the perspectives of China and South Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2020-11-30 The 2008 global food price crisis and the resurgence of food prices in 2010 2011 caused both widespread concern and expectations On the one hand countries whose food supply depends on procuring food from international markets saw food price spikes as threats to their national food security On the other hand investors saw in these price spikes an opportunity to make profitable investments in agriculture Either as threat or opportunity food price spikes raised interest in Africa whose lands are fertile and have unrealised potential Concerns of a possible land acquisitions in Africa and in particular the impacts of Large Scale Land Based Investments in Agriculture LSLBIA on local communities became prominent policy and academic themes Unfortunately quantifying the phenomenon has proved hard due to the difficulty of finding empirical evidence As a result debates are either theoretical or based on anecdotal evidence This publication thus explores a different path and explores the reasons why entities from China and South Africa were interested in investing in African agriculture This publication examines the reasons why investors were interested in Africa and the relationship that these bear to The Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security the Voluntary Guidelines or VGGT While primarily aimed at governments the VGGT also contain important provisions that are applicable to the private sector They focus on helping investors pursue their projects in ways that recognise and respect legitimate tenure rights and human rights In addition the VGGT also contain provisions and encourages good practices for responsible investment in land forests and fisheries The VGGT are a valuable tool for helping investors minimise risk while also safeguarding the rights of local communities China and South Africa represent important sources of LSBIA in Africa although the bulk of such investment comes from western countries Their investment may intensify in the future for a variety of reasons First China has the third largest land area in the world but its expansion through additional land use is limited Second the dual agricultural economy of South Africa is preventing commercial farming located in well endowed areas from expanding into remote resource poor areas where small scale subsistence based production is prevalent This publication assesses the extent to which selected investors from China and South Africa and the governments of those countries have adopted the best practices represented by the VGGT in relation to LSBIA in

South African Agriculture ,1994 The Relationship Between Farm Size and Efficiency in South African Agriculture Colin Thirtle,1999 November 1995 Commercial farms in South Africa could become significantly more efficient if they became smaller The government could encourage that trend by removing policies and distortions that favor large over small farms

Drawing on international evidence van Zyl Binswanger and Thirtle discuss the sources of economies of scale Using representative farm level survey data for South Africa s six major grain producing areas and one irrigation area for the period 1975 90 they Describe the structure of South African agriculture detailing the distribution of farm sizes and results from previous studies of farm size efficiency Analyze the evidence on scale efficiency in the former homelands Analyze the relationship between farm size and efficiency in commercial farming and discuss how policy affects that relationship Clearly policy has a crucial impact on the relationship between farm size and efficiency They find that Farms in the former homelands seem to be scale inefficient which is unsurprising given the historical lack of access to support services and infrastructure policies that discriminate against farmers in the homelands and the extremely fragmented and limited land use rights of farmers there There is an inverse relationship between farm size and efficiency in the commercial farming areas for the range of farms analyzed regardless what method is used This inverse relationship seems to become stronger and more accentuated as policy distortions which tend to favor large farms over small ones are removed Large farms tend to use more capital intensive methods of production while smaller farms are more labor intensive And managerial ability seems to be better on larger farms There is an inverse relationship between farm size and efficiency in South African agriculture despite South Africa s history of policies favoring relatively large mechanized farms Clearly efficiency gains could be significant if commercial farms became smaller To encourage that trend policies and distortions that favor large farms over small should be removed This paper a product of the Office of the Director Agriculture and Natural Resources Department is part of a larger effort in the department to design appropriate strategies for land reform
