Southeast Asia The Human Landscape Of Modernization And Development

Joshua Barker,Erik Harms,Johan A.
Lindquist

Southeast Asia The Human Landscape Of Modernization And Development:

Southeast Asia Jonathan Rigg, 1997 Drawing on case studies from across Southeast Asia this work assesses poverty and the ways in which the poor are identified and viewed Progress and change in the rural and urban worlds are examined in detail focusing on the strengthening rural urban interaction as farmers make a living in the urban industrial sector and factories relocate into industrial areas Giving prominence to indigenous notions of development based on Buddhism Islam and the so called Asian Way the author critically assesses the conceptual foundations of the development ideas of post developmentalism and the miracle thesis

Southeast Asia Jonathan Rigg, 2003 In this fascinating book Rigg charts the development of Southeast Asia examining the former non market economies of Vietnam Laos Cambodia and Burma alongside the more established market economies of the region

Southeast Asia Jonathan Rigg (geograaf), 2003 Challenging Southeast Asian Development Jonathan Rigg, 2015-07-30 Over the course of the last half century the growth economies of Southeast Asia Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Vietnam have transformed themselves into middle income countries This book looks at how the very success of these economies has bred new challenges novel problems and fresh tensions including the fact that particular individuals sectors and regions have been marginalised by these processes Contributing to discussions of policy implications the book melds endogenous and exogenous approaches to thinking about development paths re frames Asia s model s of growth and draws out the social environmental political and economic side effects that have arisen from growth An interesting analysis of the problems that come alongside development s achievements this book is an important contribution to Southeast Asian Studies Development Studies and Environmental Studies

Southeast Asian Energy Transitions Mattijs Smits, 2016-03-03 Addressing the apparent tensions between modernity and sustainability in Southeast Asia this book offers novel insights into the global challenge of moving towards a low carbon energy system With an original and accessible take on social theory related to energy transitions modernity and sustainability Mattijs Smits argues for a reinvigorated geography of energy He also challenges universalistic and linear assumptions about energy transitions and makes the case for energy trajectories stressing embeddedness contingency and connections between scales Contemporary and historical empirical examples from Southeast Asia primarily Thailand and Laos are drawn upon to show the importance of scale at regional national local and household levels The transitions in the national power sectors here have been intimately related to discourses of modernity and state formation since the colonial era More recently plans for international cooperation and discourses of regional power trade have taken centre stage Local energy trajectories are understood to be part of these transitions but also as embedded in local social political and spatial relations Examining how energy practices go hand in hand with the dissemination of different technologies this work shows the complexities of achieving sustainability in the context of rapidly changing energy modernities in Southeast Asia

contains over a hundred chapters written by leading international experts within the field to provide a concise and authoritative overview of the key theoretical and practical issues dominating contemporary development studies. Covering a wide range of disciplines, the book is divided into ten sections, each prefaced by a section introduction written by the editors. The sections cover the nature of development theories and strategies of development, globalization and development, rural development, urbanization and development, environment and development, gender, health and education, the political economy of violence and insecurity and governance and development. This third edition has been extensively updated and contains 45 new contributions from leading authorities dealing with pressing contemporary issues such as race and development, ethics and development, BRICs and development, global financial crisis, the knowledge based economy and digital divide, food security, GM crops, comparative urbanism, cities and crime, energy, water, hydropolitics, climate change, disability, fragile states, global war on terror, ethnic conflict, legal rights to development, ecosystems, services for development, just to name a few. Existing chapters have been thoroughly revised to include cutting edge developments and to present updated further reading and websites. The Companion to Development Studies presents concise overviews providing a gateway to further reading and a flexible resource for teaching and learning. It has established a role as essential reading for all students of development studies as well as those in cognate areas of geography, international relations, politics, sociology, anthropology and economics.

More than the Soil Jonathan Rigg, 2014-09-25. More than the Soil focuses on the social, cultural, economic and technological processes that have transformed rural areas of Southeast Asia. The underlying premise is that rural lives and livelihoods in this region have undergone fundamental change. No longer can we assume that rural livelihoods are founded on agriculture, nor can we assume that people envisage their futures in terms of farming. The interpenetration of the rural and urban and the degree to which rural people migrate between rural and urban areas and shift from agriculture to non agriculture raises fundamental questions about how we conceptualise the rural Southeast Asia and the households to be found there.

Taking Southeast Asia to Market Joseph Nevins, Nancy Lee Peluso, 2018-09-05. Recent changes in the global economy and in Southeast Asian national political economies have led to new forms of commodity production and new commodities. Using insights from political economy and commodity studies, the essays in Taking Southeast Asia to Market trace the myriad ways recent alignments among producers, distributors and consumers are affecting people and nature throughout the region. In case studies ranging from coffee and hardwood products to mushroom pickers and Vietnamese factory workers, the authors detail the Southeast Asian articulations of these processes while also discussing the broader implications of these shifts. Taken together, the cases show how commodities illuminate the convergence of changing social forces in Southeast Asia today as they transform the terms, practices and experiences of everyday life and politics in the global economy.
