The Forgotten Service Angela Raby, 1999 Illustrates through the use of documents poems photographs and letters what daily life was like for the wartime London Auxiliary Ambulance Service as they tried to help those injured in the London raids of 1940 41 and the German missile launches of 1944 45 Narrative centers around one station officer May Greenup who served at Station 39 in Weymouth Mews for five and a half years

Battles of Conscience Tobias Kelly, 2022-05-05 A ground breaking new study brings us a very different picture of the Second World War asking fundamental questions about ethical commitments Accounts of the Second World War usually involve tales of bravery in battle or stoicism on the home front as the British public stood together against Fascism However the war looks very different when seen through the eyes of the 60 000 conscientious objectors who refused to take up arms and whose stories unlike those of the First World War have been almost entirely forgotten Tobias Kelly invites us to spend the war five of these individuals Roy Ridgway a factory clerk from Liverpool Tom Burns a teacher from east London Stella St John who trained as a vet and ended up in jail Ronald Duncan who set up a collective farm and Fred Urquhart a working class Scottish socialist and writer We meet many more objectors along the way people both determined and torn and travel from Finland to Syria India to rural England Edinburgh to Trinidad Although conscientious objectors were often criticised and scorned figures such as Winston Churchill and the Archbishop of Canterbury supported their right to object at least in principle suggesting that liberty of conscience was one of the freedoms the nation was fighting for And their rich cultural and moral legacy of humanitarianism and human rights from Amnesty International and Oxfam to the US civil rights movement can still be felt all around us The personal and political struggles carefully and vividly collected in this book tell us a great deal about personal and collective freedom conviction and faith war and peace and pose questions just as relevant today Does conscience make us free Where does it take us And what are the costs of going there An excellent book DAILY TELEGRAPH A moving tribute SPECTATOR American Book Publishing Record, 2001

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 The Forgotten Service Angela Raby, 2001-01 The role of the Auxiliary Ambulance Service during the Second World War in London and other cities is undocumented and forgotten No other wartime service from Bevin Boys to the Land Army has been so totally ignored From over 130 stations an estimated 10 000 volunteers collected the living and dead victims of the bombs using crudely adapted outdated commercial vans These volunteers coming from all social and career backgrounds were plunged into a scenario as traumatic and horrific as anything encountered by any of the other services
