The Fourteen Stations of the Cross and Beyond George Conklin, 1993-09-01      Walking the Stations Donald Heinz, 2025-02-17 In a time when Catholic piety is often fixed on the Good Friday stations of the cross and evangelical piety is associated with an imaginary what would Jesus do and much of Protestant religion has slimmed Jesus down from the fully dimensioned Christology of the Gospels and contemporary Christianity misses a Christ who has moved into the neighborhood John 1 14 and fully engaged the world and its peoples and touring liberals tout how little a Christian actually needs to believe this book chooses fourteen episodes from Jesus entire life and makes them way stations on a pilgrimage on which we gather to meet Jesus in person share him in community and follow him to a fully realized discipleship Such way stations may recall the medieval imitation of Christ or the notion of a Christian pilgrimage during which we make the way by walking Historically pilgrimage is meant to evoke I want to be in that number Yet identifying these stations is fully congruent with contemporary New Testament scholarship whether liberal or historically orthodox The significance of this book is that it sets forth a process of adult Christian education today that is rich with all the dimensions of Jesus life from birth to death and resurrection with all the happenings in between And most important it turns adult Christian education into a compelling Bible study in community and one that attracts participation like walking a labyrinth Through such engagement it recovers for lively practice today the mostly forgotten medieval imitatio Christi and inserts this into the nearly forgotten but once vividly realized practice of pilgrimage overdue today as a way of imprinting the Christian walk onto the culture and onto individual believers and their communities Finally it follows contemporary Gospel scholarship back to the historical Jesus through visionary Holy Land tours or a modern walking the way stations that constitute Jesus own life and our immersion in it that would constitute true discipleship      Blackness in the Andes J. Rahier, 2014-01-22 This book examines in Andean national contexts the impacts of the Latin American multicultural turn of the past two decades on Afro Andean cultural politics emphasizing both transformations and continuities      With Allenby's Crusaders John N. Mochizuki, 2017-07-05 Debunking the myth of the stark white Protestant church interior this study explores the very objects and architectural additions that were in fact added to Netherlandish church interiors in the first century after iconoclasm In charting these additions Mia Mochizuki helps explain the impact of iconoclasm on the cultural topography of the Dutch Golden Age and by extension permits careful scrutiny of a decisive moment in the history of the image Focusing on the Great or St Bavo Church in Haarlem this interdisciplinary book draws on art history history and theology to look at the impact of iconoclasm and reformation on the process of image making in the early modern Netherlands The new objects that began to appear in the early Dutch Reformed Church signaled a dramatic change in the form function and patronage of church art and testified to new roles for church government guild and resident Each chapter in the book introduces a major theme of the nascent Protestant church interior the Word made material the Word made memorial and the Word made manifest which is then explored through the painting sculpture and architecture of the early Dutch Reformed Church The text is heavily illustrated with images of the objects under discussion many of them never before published A large number of these images are from the camera of prize winning photographer Tjeerd Frederikse with additional photography courtesy of E A van Voorden This book unveils defines and reproduces a host of images previously unaddressed by scholarship and links them to more familiar and long studied Dutch paintings It provides a religious art companion to general studies of Dutch Golden Age art and lends greater depth to our understanding of iconoclasm as well as the way in which cultural artifacts and religious material culture reflect and help to shape the values of a community Taking up the challenge of an unusual category of objects for visual analysis this The Mission by the Sea Francis J. Weber, 1978 Ecclesiastical Review ... Herman Joseph Heuser, 1896 Representations of Blackness and the Performance of Identities Jean Rahier, 1999-05-30 The essays gathered in this volume deal with representations of blackness and the performance of black identities in various historically determined societal contexts of the Americas Benin and Spain The book is grounded on the premise that representations constitute in part the world in which we live An important aspect of the struggles of dominated people consists in more or less overtly challenging manipulating combatting negating and sometimes inverting representations of themselves reproduced in the dominant discourse of their national society The contributors approach various forms of blackness within the fluctuation of political economic and social processes embedded in particular time space contexts which are constituted within local regional national and transnational dimensions Identities whatever they may be cannot be defined once and for all in fixed or essentialist terms as if they were unchanging or frozen in time and space If as this book proposes identities are fluid it is because they are constantly enacted and reenacted performed anew within specific situations and within changing socioeconomic and political contexts that provide sites for their negotiations and renegotiations definitions and redefinitions Thus the book approaches black identities as performances Cowley s.
