Working as Indigenous Archaeologists George Nicholas, Joe Watkins, 2024-09-30 Working as Indigenous Archaeologists explores the often contentious relationship between Indigenous and other formerly colonized peoples and Archaeology through their own voices Over the past 35 plus years the once novel field of Indigenous Archaeology has become a relatively familiar part of the archaeological landscape It has been celebrated criticized and analyzed as to its practical and theoretical applications and its political nature No less important are the life stories of its Indigenous practitioners What has brought some of them to become practicing archaeologists or heritage managers What challenges have they faced from both inside and outside their communities And why haven't more pursued Archaeology as a vocation or avocation This volume is a collection of 60 autobiographical chapters by Indigenous archaeologists and heritage specialists from around the world some community based some academic some in other realms who are working to connect past and present in meaningful and especially personal ways As Archaeology continues to evolve there remain strong tensions between an objective science oriented evidentiary based approach to knowing the past and a more subjective relational humanistic approach informed by local values traditional knowledge and holistic perspective While there are no maps for these new territories hearing directly from those Indigenous individuals who have pursued Archaeology reveals the pathways taken Those stories will provide inspiration and confidence for those curious about what lies ahead This is an important volume for anyone interested in the present state and future of the archaeological discipline Culture and Progress Nancy Sullivan, 2002 Exchange and Markets in Early Economic Development John D. Conroy, 2023-05-12 The idea of an informal economy emerged from and is a critique of the ideology of economic development It originated from Keith Hart's recognition of informal economic activity in 1960s Ghana In the context of four colonialisms German British Australian and Dutch this book recounts Hart's effort in 1972 to introduce the informal sector into development planning in Papua New Guinea This was problematic because the market was scarcely institutionalized and traditional modes of exchange persisted stubbornly Rather than conforming with post colonial economic ideology the subjected people pushed back against imposed bureaucracy to practice informal and hybrid modes of economic activity Biodiversity, Evolution and Biogeography of Plants, 1992 Development of University Libraries in Papua New Guinea Leigh R. Baker, 1981 Tropical Forests Of Oceania Joshua A. Bell, Paige West, Colin Filer, 2015-08-31 The tropical forests of Oceania are an enduring source of concern for indigenous communities for the migrants who move to them for the states that encompass them within their borders for the multilateral institutions and aid agencies and for the non governmental organisations that focus on their conservation Grounded in the perspective of political ecology contributors to this volume approach forests as socially alive spaces produced by a confluence of local histories and global circulations In doing so they collectively explore the multiple ways in which these forests come into view and therefore into being Exploring the local dynamics within and around these forests provides an insight into regional issues that have global resonance Intertwined as they are with cosmological beliefs and livelihoods as sites of biodiversity and Western desire these forests have been and are still being transformed by the interaction of foreign and local entities Focusing on case studies from Papua New Guinea the Solomon Islands and the Gambier Islands this volume brings new perspectives on how Pacific Islanders continue to creatively engage with the various processes at play in and around their forests New
