China and Africa in Global Context LI Anshan, 2022-02-23 This book studies the relationship between China and Africa by reviewing this history and current state of interactions offering a valuable addition to the often heated and contentious debate surrounding China's engagement in Africa from a Chinese angle. Comprising four parts the book covers a kaleidoscopic range of topics on China Africa relations based on materials from different languages. Part I looks into early historical contact between China and Africa and the historiography of African Studies in China in recent decades. Part II probes the origins dynamics challenges and cultural heritage of China's policies towards Africa. Part III explores the issue of development cooperation from both a theoretical and a practical point of view with a focus on the case of Chinese medical teams in Africa and China's technology transfer to the continent. Part IV illustrates bilateral migration discussing the history and life of Chinese immigrants in Africa and the African diaspora in China. The insights in this book as well as real life case studies will make this work an indispensable reference for academics students policy makers and general readers who are interested in international issues and area studies especially China Africa relations China's rise and African development

China's Education Aid to Africa Wei Ye, 2023-05-31 China's rise as an aid provider in Africa has caught global attention with China's activity being viewed as the projection of soft power of a neo colonialist kind in an international relations context. This book which focuses on China's education aid government scholarships training Confucius Institutes dispatched teachers etc reveals a much more complicated picture. It outlines how the divide between the Chinese Ministry of Commerce and the Ministry of Education hinders China's soft power projection how much of China's aid is bound up with an education for economic growth outlook mirroring China's own recent experiences of economic development and how China's aid prioritized to reflect the commercial sector's interests is out of step with most international development aid which is dominated by education agendas and the campaigns of international organizations and traditional donors this leaves China easily exposed to the charge of neo colonialism. This situation also reveals insufficient knowledge production of China and in South South Cooperation. Substantial production of Southern knowledge should recognize the international development cooperation architecture as an open system by which both traditional donors and Southern countries transform

China into Africa Robert I. Rotberg, 2009-10-01 Africa has long attracted China. We can date their first certain involvement from the fourteenth century but East African city states may have been trading with southern China even earlier. In the mid twentieth century Maoist China funded and educated sub Saharan African anticolonial liberation movements and leaders and the PRC then assisted new sub Saharan nations. Africa and China are now immersed in their third and most transformative era of heavy engagement one that promises to do more for economic growth and poverty alleviation than anything attempted by Western colonialism or international aid programs Robert Rotberg and his Chinese African and other colleagues discuss this important trend and specify its likely implications Among the specific topics tackled here are China's interest in African oil military and security relations the influx and goals of Chinese aid to sub-Saharan Africa human rights issues and China's overall strategy in the region China's insatiable demand for energy and raw materials responds to sub-Saharan Africa's relatively abundant supplies of unprocessed metals diamonds and gold while offering a growing market for Africa's agriculture and light manufactures As this book illustrates this evolving symbiosis could be the making of Africa the poorest and most troubled continent while it further powers China's expansive economic machine Contributors include Deborah Brautigam American University Harry Broadman World Bank Stephen Brown University of Ottawa Martyn J Davies Stellenbosch University Joshua Eisenman UCLA Chin Hao Huang Stockholm International Peace Research Institute Paul Hubbard Australian Department of the Treasury Wenran Jiang University of Alberta Darren Kew University of Massachusetts Boston Henry Lee Harvard University Li Anshan Peking University Ndubisi Obiorah Centre for Law and Social Action Nigeria Stephanie Rupp National University of Singapore Dan Shalmon Georgetown University David Shinn George Washington University Chandra Lekha Sriram University of East London and Yusuf Atang Tanko University of Massachusetts Boston

State institutions and leadership in Africa Irma Taddia, Tekeste Negash, 2018-02-01 The central theme of this book is the role of education in the formation of a political class during and after the European colonial period in Africa The volume focuses on the various actors that informed and were part of this process such as African intellectuals and political leaders colonial troops European missionaries and administrators At the same time the collection analyses the historical processes connected to the emergence and development of a new African leadership such as the creation of a colonial school system the transformation of urban spaces the development of new environmental policies and the processes of nation building after independence The volume is made up of twelve contributions four on Ethiopia two on Eritrea two on the Sudan one on Somaliland two on Tanzania and one on Ghana

China's Aid & Soft Power in Africa Kenneth King, 2013 China's dramatic economic and trade impact on the developing world has received global attention yet its role as an education donor especially for Africans in China and within Africa itself has received little attention Here is hard evidence from Ethiopia Kenya and South Africa of the dramatic growth of China's soft power and of the implications of this for Africa China and the world China and the Shaping of Indonesia, 1949-1965 Hong Liu, 2011 The interactions and mutual perceptions of China and Indonesia were a significant element in Asia's postcolonial transformation but as a result of prevailing emphasis on diplomatic and political relations within a Cold War and nation state framework their multi dimensional interrelationship and its complex domestic ramifications have escaped scholarly scrutiny China and the Shaping of Indonesia provides a meticulous account of versatile interplay between knowledge power ethnicity and diplomacy in the context of Sino Indonesian interactions between 1949 and 1965 Taking a transnational approach that views Asia as a flexible geographical and political construct this book addresses three central questions First what images of China were prevalent in Indonesia and how were narratives about China construed and reconstructed Second why did the China Metaphor the projection of an imagined foreign land onto the local intellectual and political milieu become central to Indonesians conception of themselves and a cause for self criticism and rediscovery Third how was the China Metaphor incorporated into Indonesia s domestic politics and culture and how did it affect the postcolonial transformation the fate of the ethnic Chinese minority and Sino Indonesian diplomacy Employing a wide range of hitherto untapped primary materials in Indonesian and Chinese as well as his own interviews Hong Liu presents a compelling argument that many influential politicians and intellectuals among them Sukarno Hatta and Pramoedya utilized China as an alternative model of modernity in conceiving and developing projects of social engineering cultural regeneration and political restructuring that helped shape the trajectory of modern Indonesia The multiplicity of China thus constituted a site of political contestations and intellectual imaginations The study is a major contribution both to the intellectual and political history of Indonesia and to the reconceptualization of Asian studies it also serves as a timely reminder of the importance of historicizing China s rising soft power in a transnational Asia
