The Forgotten Revelation:

The Invisible Source of Authority David Walsh,2025-07-15 The Invisible Source of Authority is a philosophical meditation on the secular age and challenges the notion that the secular can be understood without reference to God. How does one reject God while denying belief? This is the central paradox of our secular age where efforts to erase God only affirm his presence. In The Invisible Source of Authority David Walsh examines this paradox and argues that a secular world actually reveals God more clearly rather than bringing about what has been called the death of God. Unlike many critics of modernity, Walsh argues that secularism is not inhospitable to authentic religious faith and cannot be understood without reference to God. Drawing on the writings of early modern thinkers like Montaigne, Descartes, and Grotius, Walsh asserts that God's absence from the secular world is testimony to God's transcendence. Because the secular is always that which has withdrawn from serving God, Walsh suggests that this presupposition proves that God remains indispensable to the self-understanding of secular society. The Invisible Source of Authority seeks to remind us that despite his seeming absence, the transcendent God remains an essential presence.

Living Covenant David Hartman,2013-04-11 A covenantal vision of life with mitzvah divine commandment as the central organizing principle in the relationship between Jews and God liberates the intellect and the moral will. I seek to show that a tradition mediated by the Sinai covenant can encourage the development of a human being who is not afraid to assume responsibility for the ongoing drama of Jewish history. Passive resignation is seen not to be an essential trait of one whose relationship to God is mediated by the hearing of mitzvot from the Introduction. This interpretation of Jewish teaching will appeal to all people seeking to understand the relationship between the idea of divine demand and the human response between religious tradition and modernity Hartman shows that a life lived in Jewish tradition need not be passive insulated or self effacing but can be lived in the modern pluralistic world with passion tolerance and spontaneity The Judaic tradition is often seen as being more concerned with uncritical obedience to law than with individual freedom and responsibility In A Living Covenant Hartman challenges this approach by revealing a Judaism grounded in a covenant a relational framework informed by the metaphor of marital love rather than that of parent child dependency This view of life places the individual firmly within community Hartman shows that the Judaic tradition need not be understood in terms of human passivity and resignation but rather as a vehicle by which human individuality and freedom can be expressed within a relational matrix
