Suburban Ambush:

Up is Up, But So is Down Brandon Stosuy, 2006-10 The first book to capture the spontaneity of lower Manhattan's downtown literary scene collects more than 125 images and over 80 texts that encompass the most vital work produced between 1974 and 1992 Literary Criticism Abandon All Hope - Consumerism and Loss of Identity in Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho As an Example of Blank Fiction Anja Schiel, 2008-04 Thesis M A from the year 2005 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1 5 University of Hamburg Sprach Literatur und Medienwissenschaft language English abstract Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho has been labeled many things from Brat Pack Fiction to Generation X to Minimal Realism While the classification of the novel might be difficult and it has often been misunderstood for its extremely violent scenes what is clear to the attentive reader is its critique of consumer culture Critics have acknowledged an emergence of a large number of writings dealing with this topic in contemporary American literature in the recent past These novels focus on the relationship of American youth with consumer culture with a seemingly non elaborate content and style Attempts of explaining this kind of writing which has also been called fiction of insurgency new narrative downtown writing and punk fiction range from millennial angst to the classification of this literary movement as part of the postmodern culture What seems clear is that these narrations are closely related to the society they have been created in The way these texts incorporate products of their time as a constant accompanying element places them very clearly in a specific time period The apparent non existence of complexity concerning the style which at times reminds the reader of a movie script or a sequence of an MTV video has in the case of American Psycho caused many critics to classify the novel as boring and deny the author the status of an artist Exactly this seeming meaninglessness of these novels argues in favor of a term introduced by critics James Annesley and Elizabeth Young Blank fiction or Blank Generation Fiction The term Blank fiction seems to capture perfectly the emptiness created by consumer culture that has found its way into these narratives not simply in its context but also by means of its language incorporating consumer goods i DIY on the Lower East Side Andrew Strombeck, 2020-08-01 The severe financial austerity imposed on New York City during the 1975 fiscal crisis resulted in a city falling apart Broken windows crumbling walls and piles of bricks were everywhere While for many this physical decay was a sign that the postwar welfare state had failed for others it represented a site of risky opportunity that could stimulate novel forms of creativity and community In this book Andrew Strombeck explores the legacy of this crisis for the city's literature and art focusing on one neighborhood where changes were acutely felt the Lower East Side In what became a paradigmatic example of gentrification the Lower East Side's population shifted from working class people to Wall Street traders and ad agents This transformation occurred in part because of high profile local artists such as Jean Michel Basquiat Keith Haring Jeff Koons and Kiki Smith but Strombeck argues that neighborhood writers also played a role Drawing on archival research and original author interviews he examines the innovative work of Kathy Acker David Wojnarowicz Miguel Pi ero Sylv re Lotringer Lynne Tillman and others and concludes that these writers still have much to teach us about changes in the nature of work and the emergence of a do it yourself ethos DIY on the Lower East Side shows how place and politics shaped literature and how New York City policies adopted at the time continue to shape our world RBM, 2002 Future Crossings Krzysztof Ziarek, Seamus Deane, 2000 A collection of essays exploring the future of literary studies by focusing on the relationship between literary theory philosophy and cultural studies The essays aim to break the boundaries separating philosophy and literature

Geddes, 1986 The introduction of mobile coronary care to Belfast in 1966 was a milestone in the history of cardiology Over the intervening years much information and experience has been acquired in Belfast and elsewhere which has served to confirm the life saving capacity of pre hospital cardiac care schemes This symposium presents an account of the different types of systems which have been developed to suit the specific needs of communities in Northern Ireland and North America Future prospects in the early management of myocardial infarction are also discussed particularly in the light of new therapeutic developments The French Attack on the Housing Problem Wells Ira Bennett, 1935 The Relationship Between Mastery of Selected Word Attack Skills and Reading Performance Elene S.
