Mother Mary Comes to Me Arundhati Roy, 2025-09-02 Named One of the New York Times Book Review's Top Ten Books of 2025 Finalist for the Kirkus Prize A raw and deeply moving memoir from the legendary author of The God of Small Things and The Ministry of Utmost Happiness that traces her complex relationship with her mother Mary Roy a fierce and formidable force who shaped Arundhati's life both as a woman and a writer Mother Mary Comes to Me Arundhati Roy's first work of memoir is a soaring account both intimate and inspirational of how the author became the person and the writer she is shaped by circumstance but above all by her complex relationship to the extraordinary singular mother she describes as my shelter and my storm Heart smashed by her mother Mary's death in September 2022 yet puzzled and more than a little ashamed by the intensity of her response Roy began to write to make sense of her feelings about the mother she ran from at age eighteen not because I didn't love her but in order to be able to continue to love her And so begins this astonishing sometimes disturbing and surprisingly funny memoir of the author's journey from her childhood in Kerala India where her single mother founded a school to the writing of her prizewinning novels and essays through today With the scale sweep and depth of her novels The God of Small Things and The Ministry of Utmost Happiness and the passion political clarity and warmth of her essays Mother Mary Comes to Me is an ode to freedom a tribute to thorny love and savage grace a memoir like no other

Black is the Journey, Africana the Name Maboula Soumahoro, 2021-09-23 In this highly original book Maboula Soumahoro explores the cultural and political vastness of the Black Atlantic where Africa Europe and the Americas were tied together by the brutal realities of the slave trade and colonialism Each of these spaces has its own way of reading the Black body and the Black experience and its own modes of visibility invisibility silence and amplification of Black life By weaving together her personal history with that of France and its abiding myth of color blindness Maboula Soumahoro highlights the banality and persistence of structural racism in France today and shows that freedom will be found in the journey and movement between the sites of the Atlantic triangle Africana is the name of that freedom How can we build and reflect on a collective diasporic identity through a personal journey What are the limits and possibilities of this endeavor when the personal journey is that of oft erased bodies and stories dehumanized lives and when Black populations in Africa the Americas and Europe identify and misidentify with each other their sensibilities shaped by the particular locales in which their lives unfold This book makes an important intellectual contribution to contemporary public conversations and theoretical inquiry into race racism blackness and identity today as it probes and questions the academic methodologies that have functioned as structures of exclusion
