World and Industrial Record ,1911 Shifting the Compass Jeroen Dewulf, Michiel van Kempen, Olf Praamstra, 2012-12-19 While the inclusion of a hybrid perspective to highlight local dynamics has become increasingly common in the analysis of both colonial and postcolonial literature the dominant intercontinental connection in the analysis of this literature has remained with the former motherland The lack of attention to intercontinental connections is particularly deplorable when it comes to the analysis of literature written in the language of a former colonial empire that consisted of a global network of possessions One of these languages is Dutch While the seventeenth century Dutch were relative latecomers in the European colonial expansion they were able to build a network that achieved global dimensions

With West India Company WIC operations in New Netherland on the American East Coast the Caribbean Northeastern Brazil and the African West Coast and East India Company VOC operations in South Africa the Malabar Coromandel and the Bengal coast in India Ceylon Sri Lanka Malacca in Malaysia Ayutthaya in Siam Thailand Tainan in Formosa Taiwan Deshima in Japan and the islands of the Southeast Asian archipelago the Dutch achieved dominion over global trade for more than a century Paraphrasing Paul Gilroy one could argue that there was not just a Dutch Atlantic in the seventeenth century but rather a Dutch Oceanus Despite its global scale the intercultural dynamics in the literature that developed in this transoceanic network have traditionally been studied from a Dutch and or a local perspective but rarely from a multi continental one This collection of articles presents new perspectives on Dutch colonial and postcolonial literature by shifting the compass of analysis Naturally an important point of the compass continues to point in the direction of Amsterdam The Hague and Leiden be it due to the use of the Dutch language the importance of Dutch publishers readers media and research centers the memory of Dutch heritage in libraries and archives or the large number of Dutch citizens with roots in the former colonial world Other points of the compass however indicate different directions They highlight the importance of pluricontinental contacts within the Dutch global colonial network and pay specific attention to groups in the Dutch colonial and postcolonial context that have operated through a network of contacts in the diaspora such as the Afro Caribbean the Sephardic Jewish and the Indo European communities
