The Last Picture Show Directors Cut:

Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman, 2020-07-21 Today the director is considered the leading artistic force behind a film. The production of a Hollywood movie requires the labor of many people from screenwriters and editors to cinematographers and boom operators but the director as author of the film overshadows them all. How did this concept of the director become so deeply ingrained in our understanding of cinema? In Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman offers a groundbreaking history of how movie directors became cinematic auteurs that reveals and pinpoints the influence of the Directors Guild of America (DGA). Guided by Frank Capra's mantra "one man, one film," the Guild has portrayed its director members as the creators responsible for turning Hollywood entertainment into cinematic art. Wexman details how the DGA differentiated itself from other industry unions focusing on issues of status and creative control as opposed to bread and butter concerns like wages and working conditions. She also traces the Guild's struggle for creative and legal power exploring subjects from the language of on-screen credits to the House Un-American Activities Committee's investigations of the movie industry. Wexman emphasizes the gendered nature of images of the great director demonstrating how the DGA promoted the idea of the director as a masculine hero. Drawing on a broad array of archival sources, interviews, and theoretical and sociological insight, Hollywood's Artists sheds new light on the ways in which the Directors Guild of America has shaped the role and image of directors both within the Hollywood system and in the culture at large. American Literature on Stage and Screen Thomas S. Hirschak, 2014-01-10 The 525 notable works of 19th and 20th century American fiction in this reference book have many stage, movie, television, and video adaptations. Each literary work is described and then every adaptation is examined with a discussion of how accurate the version is and how well it succeeds in conveying the spirit of the original in a different medium. In addition to famous novels and short stories by authors such as Nathaniel Hawthorne, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Willa Cather, many bestsellers, mysteries, children's books, young adult books, horror novels, science fiction, detective stories, and sensational potboilers from the past two centuries are examined. Peter Bogdanovich Peter Tonguetto, 2015-01-21 Before he was the Academy Award-nominated director of The Last Picture Show, Peter Bogdanovich (1939-2022) interviewed some of cinema's great masters: Orson Welles, Alfred Hitchcock, John Ford, and others. After becoming an acclaimed filmmaker himself, he gave countless interviews to the press about his own career. This volume collects thirteen of his best, most comprehensive and most insightful interviews, many long out of print and several never before published in their entirety. They cover more than forty years of directing, with Bogdanovich talking candidly about his great triumphs such as The Last Picture Show and What's Up, Doc? and his overlooked gems such as Daisy Miller and They All Laughed. Assembled by acclaimed critic Peter Tonguetto, also author of a critical biography of Bogdanovich, these interviews demonstrate that Bogdanovich was not only one of America's finest filmmakers but also one of its most eloquent when discussing film and his own remarkable movies. The Orientation of Future Cinema Bruce Isaacs, 2013-02-14 What is the fate of cinema in an age of new technologies new aesthetic styles new modes of cultural production and consumption What becomes of cinema and a century long history of the moving image when the theatre is outmoded as a social and aesthetic space as celluloid gives over to digital technology as the art house and multiplex are overtaken by a proliferation of home entertainment systems The Orientation of Future Cinema offers an ambitious and compelling argument for the continued life of cinema as image narrative and experience Commencing with Lumi re s Arrival of a Train at a Station Bruce Isaacs confronts the threat of contemporary digital technologies and processes by returning to cinema s complex history as a technological and industrial phenomenon The technology of moving images has profoundly changed and yet cinema materialises ever more forcefully in digital capture and augmentation 3 D perception and affect High Frame Rate cinema and the evolution of spectacle as the dominant aesthetic mode in contemporary studio production The Media Works Joan Valdes, Jeanne Crow, 1973 TLA Film and Video Guide, 1996-1997 TLA Publication Staff, Tla Publication, 1996
