overwhelming majority of seamen in the navy were there of their own free will Taking a long view across the late eighteenth century but concentrating on the period of the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars of 1793 1815 the book provides great detail on the sort of men that were recruited and the means by which they were recruited and includes a number of individuals stories It shows how manpower was a major concern for the Admiralty how the Admiralty put in place a range of recruitment methods including the quota system how it worried about depleting merchant shipping of sufficient sailors and how although most seamen were volunteers the press gang was resorted to especially during the initial mobilisation at the beginning of wars and to find certain kinds of particularly skilled seamen The book also makes comparisons with recruitment methods employed by the navies of other countries and by the British army J Ross Dancy is Assistant Professor of History at Sam Houston State University
