On Landscapes Susan Herrington, 2013-12-19 There is no escaping landscape it's everywhere and part of everyone's life Landscapes have received much less attention in aesthetics than those arts we can choose to ignore such as painting or music but they can tell us a lot about the ethical and aesthetic values of the societies that produce them Drawing on examples from a wide range of landscapes from around the world and throughout history Susan Herrington considers the ways landscapes can affect our emotions our imaginations and our understanding of the passage of time On Landscapes reveals the design work involved in even the most naturalistic of landscapes and the ways in which contemporary landscapes are turning the challenges of the industrial past into opportunities for the future Inviting us to thoughtfully see and experience the landscapes that we encounter in our daily lives On Landscapes demonstrates that art is all around us

"Landscapes of Lordship" Robert Liddiard, 2000 In this detailed study Liddiard examines the processes and factors which determined the number distribution and location of castles and considers how a castle's construction altered its environment Using structures such as Castle Acre Castle Rising Middleton and Horsford as examples Liddiard suggests that the location of most of Norfolk's castles was shaped by social factors and not military considerations Castles were primarily intended to

Translated from the Fourth French Edition by W. S. O. Guillaume Louis FIGUIER, 1872 Prehistoric and Roman Landscapes Andrew J. Fleming, Richard Hingley, 2007 As the essays in this book demonstrate Prehistoric and Romano British landscape studies have come a long way since Hoskins whose work reflected the prevailing Celtic ethnological narrative of Britain before the medieval period The contributors present a stimulating survey of the subject as it is in the early twenty first century and provide some sense of a research frontier where new conceptualisations of otherness and new research techniques are transforming our understanding The Avebury Landscape Graham Brown, David Field, David McOmish, 2005 It is over one hundred years since the publication of the wide ranging archaeological field investigation undertaken on the Marlborough Downs by the Rev A C Smith His work Guide to the British and Roman Antiquities of the North Wiltshire Downs in a Hundred Square Miles round Avebury was originally published in two volumes in 1884 by the Marlborough College Natural History Society then reprinted and bound into a single volume and published in 1885 by the Wiltshire Archaeological and Natural History Society after half the original print run was destroyed in a fire As in most works of inventory the volume has certainly stood the test of time and is still one of the basic reference texts for students of the area Since then apart from a few notable exceptions archaeological literature about the area has been largely site based and there has been little concerning the Marlborough Downs as a whole In order to try and redress this imbalance a day conference was organised in April 2002 at the University of Bath Swindon where it was possible to acknowledge and mark the ongoing validity of Smith's work and where a number of papers on various aspects of recent research on the Marlborough Downs were presented The results of the conference are presented in this volume together with a number of other commissioned contributions from individuals who have undertaken research in the area during the last decade or so Each essay stands alone but they are connected by a common theme that of the land and how it has changed over millennia Landscape History , 2005 Gardeners' Chronicle , 1875 Painters
