time This classification however could yet be too simplistic as here for the first time John Starr applies sophisticated statistical analyses to newly available electronic versions of these fragments In so doing Starr presents a potential new classification which comprises six different text types which bear distinctive textual features and thus is able to narrow down the classification both temporally and geographically Starr's re-visited classification presents fresh insights into the Aramaic texts at Qumran with important implications for our understanding of the many strands that made up Judaism in the period leading to the writing of the New Testament
