Skin Immune System Sis:

Skin Immune System (SIS) Jan D. Bos, 1997-04-10 Immunodermatology is a field covering the majority of skin diseases including the most prevalent ones in the general population. The Second Edition of Skin Immune System SIS discusses immune mediated skin diseases and disease groups in which the SIS plays a role. It covers major findings in immunophysiology and immunopathology that have occurred since the introduction of the First Edition in 1990. As the subtitle indicates, the Second Edition adds a new emphasis on cutaneous immunology and also includes new information on immune based therapeutic interventions and methods such as phototherapy and the immunological therapy of skin cancer. The book contains Part I with introductory chapters, Part II with descriptions of the cellular elements, and Part III which describes the humoral and molecular components of SIS. Part IV follows to integrate the facts described in Parts II and III into concepts of pathophysiology. It contains a number of concepts entitled response patterns that describe how the constitutional elements of SIS work together. New in this edition are the descriptions of immunodermatological diseases individually described in Part V. Part VI is also all new and summarizes principles of immunotherapy.

Man has recognised an association of light with life and medicine for over 3000 years. Today the major challenges to this topic include the elucidation of photochemical reactions involved in photobiology at the molecular level. This includes the use of a variety of modern probing techniques that directly measure the reactivity of excited states and free radicals involved in biological reactions. This text book is based on such an approach and has arisen from some of the lectures delivered at the NATO ASI held at Hotel Capo Caccia near the Centre for Advanced Research in Photobiology (CARP) in Sardinia, Italy. The ASI took place from 30 September to 13 October 1993 and involved a total membership of 90. The book, like the NATO ASI itself, is divided into four themes, starting with fundamental aspects and ending with complex medically related systems. Thus Theme 1 covers aspects of the underlying photophysics and photochemistry with particular emphasis on modern experimental techniques to study molecular mechanisms of biological processes. Theme 2 applies many of these fundamental studies to the chemical reactions of most relevance to photobiology and photomedicine, such as photoaddition, isomerization, sensitization, and pigmentation. The third and fourth Themes deal with the deleterious and therapeutic aspects of light, with particular emphasis on the use of Photodynamic Therapy (PDT) to treat cancer and on viral and microbial infections. Therapeutic Immunosuppression Angus W. Thomson, 2001. This work has broad applications in clinical medicine, ranging from prevention and treatment of organ and bone marrow transplant rejection management of various autoimmune disorders for example rheumatoid arthritis skin disease and asthma Whereas traditionally only a small repertoire of immunosuppressive agents was available for clinical use recent discoveries have significantly increased the number of approved agents resulting in numerous trials to further evaluate their potential There is also considerable interest in the potential of cell based therapies particularly hematopoietic stem and dendritic cell therapy of allo and autoimmunity Important recent advances in the immunotherapy of allergic diseases are also covered in this book This volume is intended both for practising physicians and surgeons and for biomedical scientists at the graduate postdoctoral levels and is designed to provide the theory behind these various approaches to immunosuppression and to provide state of the art reviews of current developments in each area
