Sociological Surfing On The Internet:

Sociological Surfing on the Internet Elsworth Furhman, Schaefer, 1997-08      Internet Guide for Sociology

Kurland, Daphne John, 1996 Kurland's guide is an easy internet reference for undergraduates to understand the basic functions of the internet. Internet Guide For Sociology is tailored for Sociology. Following the introduction to internet basics, there is a brief introduction to how the discipline of Sociology in particular can benefit from the use of the Internet. Exercises follow which will encourage students to become proficient in the many different dimensions and uses of the internet. Additionally, for each topic, there is a handy reference listing of URL sites and on-line materials unique to the discipline of Sociology.

Superconnected: The Internet, Digital Media, and Techno-Social Life Mary Chayko, 2017-12-07

Superconnected: The Internet, Digital Media, and Techno-Social Life Second Edition brings together the latest research from many relevant fields to examine how contemporary social life is mediated by various digital technologies: the internet, social media, and mobile devices. The book explores such topics as how digital technology led to the modern information age, information sharing and surveillance, how digital media shape socialization and development of the self, digital divides that separate groups in society, and the impact of digital media across social institutions. The author's clear, nontechnical discussions and interdisciplinary synthesis make Superconnected an essential text for any course that examines how social life is affected when information and communication technology enter the picture. Dr. Mary Chayko is a sociologist, Teaching Professor of Communication and Information, and Director of Undergraduate Interdisciplinary Studies at the School of Communication and Information, SC I at Rutgers University. For more on the author and for instructor resources, visit her book blog at <http://superconnectedblog.com>. New to the Edition: Current events, the latest statistics, and new research findings are reflected throughout the book, including richly detailed sections on the rise of fake news and information, the human-machine relationship, and the history and implications of the dark web and the deep web. The book's companion blog, superconnectedblog.com, now includes customizable lecture slides and discussion questions for each chapter. Short podcasts recorded by the author and posted to her blog provide fun, unique points of access to every chapter.

Social Mentality and Online Life of China's Elderly Gao Wenjun, He Yijin, Zhu Di, Wang Xiaobing, 2024-10-01 This book investigates the Internet use and online engagement of China's elderly population, especially in relation to the formation of their social mentality and vision. The online life of the elderly is a complex issue that is important for both economic development and social progress. In a country with a rapidly aging population like China, overlooking the online needs of the elderly and the extent to which they are met can have serious consequences for society as a whole. This book examines the impact of the Internet on the lives and social mindset of this population, specifically by analyzing their vision, i.e., their perception and concept of the world of which the Internet is an integral part. It aims to better understand how the elderly use and adapt to the Internet, the challenges they face, and how their online experience shapes their social attitudes. The authors propose practical measures to help this significant population to benefit from the digital age and to foster positive social attitudes The title will appeal to scholars students policymakers and practitioners interested in the sociology of the Internet especially elderly online engagement and digital inclusion     Essentials of Sociology David B. Brinkerhoff,1999     Annotated Instructors Edition (Aie Alone) to Accompany Sociology Schaefer,2001-05     Usage of Social Network Sites amongst University Students Kelly Clarkson,2013-04-30 Thesis M A from the year 2012 in the subject Communications Multimedia Internet New Technologies grade A The University of Liverpool course Information Management language English abstract Social network sites have millions of users worldwide with the sites integrated into the daily practices of the users with increasing numbers recorded among university students Examples of popular social network sites used commonly by university students include Facebook Bebo MySpace Cyworld and many others The largest of the sites among university students being Facebook created in 2004 by Zuckerberg with its rate of usage at 90% Stutzman 2006 In addition Facebook has stimulated a platform for a lot researches on its various aspects for instance in academics Hewitt Forte 2006 Furthermore the growth of social network sites on schools can be attributed to the growth The intense usage of social network sites within academic institutions has resulted into social capital formation and on the other hand resulted to new platforms of effective communication In addition the social network sites are also associated with social capital measures for instance bonding and bridging of social capital Furthermore self esteem moderates the relationship between social capital and social network sites Individuals who have low self esteem tend to gain confidence from using social network sites as compared with their counterparts who have high self esteem This aspect acts as a psychological boost to individuals specifically students who are introverts and can act as an academic boost for them Studies conducted earlier on social network sites had data being collected at one point in time thus making it difficult to determine a time order in relationships among users of the social network sites social capital and self esteem The growth of social network sites was not phenomenal and popular and thus the underlying reasons which attracted different segments could not be identified The reports indicated that studies on impacts of SNSs among heavy users like university students need to be conducted since friendship maintenance using social network sites play a significant role in individual psychological development of students The age group 18 to 25 represents the period between adulthood and adolescence according to Arnett 2000 This stage as argued by Arnett is vital to an individual adulthood development since during this period when a person develops social skills like for career orientation relationship maintenance and self dependency     Sociology Robert Van Krieken,Daphne Habibis,Philip Smith,Brett Hutchins,Greg Martin,Karl Maton,2013-09-12 Building upon the success of previous editions this fully revised edition of Sociology lays the foundations for understanding sociology in Australia The depth and breadth of the book ensures its value not only for first year students but for sociology majors requiring on going reference to a range of theoretical perspectives and current debates This fifth Australian edition continues to build on the book s reputation for coverage clarity and content drawing upon the work of leading Australian sociologists as well as engaging with global social trends and sociological developments     Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Sociology Alex Thio,1998 A smart and entertaining anti love story from YA master Blake Nelson James Hoff likes to rant against America s consumerist culture the malls the SUVs the focus on clothes He also likes to rant against his ex girlfriend Sadie who he doesn t feel is doing enough to change the world a bike path can t save the environment But just like he can t avoid buying things he also can t avoid Sadie for long This anti consumerist love story is all about idealism in James s relationship with the world around him and his relationships with the people around him This is a fantastic funny sexy cool masterpiece from one of the best YA writers working today     The Essential Sociologist Beth B. Hess,Peter J. Stein,Susan A. Farrell,2001 Combines pedagogy with the developments in sociological research and orientations in the field of sociology This book offers material for exploring the social diversity of the world from small traditional societies to large developing and industrialized societies It is useful for instructors and students     Global Encounters Gitte Stald,Thomas Tufte,2002 The relation between globalization culture and the transformative role of the media is examined in this book Case studies assess questions of media use cultural boundaries and identities emanating from these theoretical reflections The international scope of this book includes examinations of youth cultures in Denmark and South Africa Asian cultures in India and London the Iranian migration to London and the Gauchos in Southern Brazil     Polish Sociological Review ,2001     Social Network Structures and the Internet Dongyoung Sohn,2008 The Internet creates a very unique environment where numerous individuals and widely distributed organizations can communicate and even collaborate for common interests Virtual communities shared information databases and online forums are visible examples of the self organizing social collectivities which emerge from the many to many interactions among voluntary participants Online social communities exemplified by blogs and social networking sites are getting more and more attention nowadays from the business sector and companies are eager to find ways to use them for business opportunities Despite the mushrooming hype regarding the unlimited potentials of virtual community little is known about its complex nature how virtual communities are born sustained and under what circumstances they collapse A virtual community is an aggregate of voluntary participants in which individual behaviors are in conjunction with the behaviors of others People decide to contribute or free ride in response to the contributing or free riding behaviors of others If many people already are contributing to the community for example one may be strongly tempted to free ride while this may not be the case if there are very few contributors Understanding this social interdependence is the key to grasping the collective dynamics underlying virtual communities This book aims at illuminating the implications of the collective social dynamics in a computer mediated environment on advertising business and communication in general Along with conceptual discussions this book shows some experimental findings related to the psychological and social structural factors affecting individuals communicative motivations This pioneering book should be valuable to read since it is one of the first academic attempts to shed light on how network structures influence the behaviors of individuals on the Internet John D Leckenby Professor and Everett D Collier Centennial Chair in Communication The University of Texas at Austin      Sociology on the Internet, 1998-1999 Andrew T. Stull, 1999
