The Auden Generation:

The Auden Generation Samuel Hynes, 2011-04-30 This is a study of a literary generation writing in a period of expanding fears and ever more urgent political and social crises The pace of the time itself the sense of time passing and an end approaching gave a special quality to the Thirties The public world pressed insistently on the private world For those who came of literary age Auden Day Lewis MacNeice Spender Graham Greene Isherwood and Orwell among them writing became a form of action In the process a generation discovered itself and found its own expression The Auden Generation Samuel Lynn Hynes, 1979 The Auden Generation Samuel Hynes, 1976 The Auden Generation Samuel Lynn Hynes, 1976

The Oxford Handbook of George Orwell, 2025-01-29 The Oxford Handbook of George Orwell offers a wide ranging reconsideration of Orwell's life and work focusing on the extensive connections between his novels essays diaries columns letters and reviews Accessible to general readers and to established scholars alike forty eight chapters written by an international team of Orwell specialists address familiar topics such as Orwell's journalism broadcasting literary criticism and politics as well as less well trodden areas of his output such as his accounts of stupidity kindness and justice and his connections with contemporaries like Jack Common Katharine Burdekin Wyndham Lewis and Victor Serge Sections on Orwell's professional activities his main literary influences his politics his intellectual fixations his literary contemporaries and his legacies structure the book which moves thematically and topically through the full scope of his output The first section looks at how Orwell spent his time as a writer reader and broadcaster Chapters on writers from Shakespeare to the modernists investigate the determinants of Orwell's literary practice The book then turns to a set of political contexts in which Orwell's writing can be understood The Fixations section covers the familiar such as Orwell's account of Englishness and the unfamiliar such as his account of the absurd The fifth section relates Orwell to several politically minded contemporaries tracing connections and differences between their writing The final section of the Handbook reflects on how Orwell sounds through several literary and socio political legacies and includes innovative considerations of feminism Afrofuturism and queer speculative fiction British Fiction in the 1930s James Gindin, 2016-07-27 British Fiction in the 1930s studies the literary climate of the British 1930s through a critical treatment of some of its influential and socially representative fiction The works depict in various ways a culture under the stress of seemingly insoluble economic and intensifying international dilemmas a culture that seems betrayed by the promise of its past and the paralysis of its present The fiction considers transforming solutions individual and sexual rebellions as well as the fears and attractions of social and political change

Personal Modernisms James Gifford, 2014-11-15 Gifford's invigorating work of metacriticism and literary history recovers the significance of the lost generation of writers of the 1930s and 1940s He examines how the Personalism of anarcho anti authoritarian contemporaries such as Alex Comfort Robert Duncan Lawrence Durrell J F Hendry Henry Miller Elizabeth Smart Dylan Thomas and Henry Treece forges a missing link between Late Modernist and postmodernist literature He concludes by applying his recontextualization to four familiar texts by Miller Durrell Smart and Duncan and encourages readers to re engage the lost generation using this new critical lens Scholars and students of literary modernism twentieth century Canadian literature and anarchism will find a productive vision of this neglected period within Personal Modernisms

Networking Women Marina Camboni, 2004      Louis MacNeice Peter McDonald, 1991 Since his death in 1963 Louis MacNeice's critical standing has risen steadily This new study addresses the contexts of MacNeice's writings which are of greatest relevance to his place in modern poetry his problematic and still controversial relationship with Ireland and his significance for the understanding of the largely English thirties generation with which he is often identified The influence of these contexts upon the nature of MacNeice's poetic development is studied in detail here together with the important questions of his relation to Yeats and Modernism The book examines MacNeice's conception of parable as key imaginative response to these influences and it includes the first study of the poet's revealing and little known early writings Peter McDonald demonstrates that MacNeice is a central figure in modern Irish and British poetry of greater substantial complexity than is often thought and suggests that his through his work we should see its contexts in a challenging new light

The Myth of War in British and Polish Poetry, 1939-1945 Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, 2002 In recent decades there has been a marked tendency to look at war literature from a perspective that reaches beyond the experiences of particular nations Characteristically though poetry and prose from Poland Hungary and former Czechoslovakia are included in multi national anthologies the war literatures of Eastern Europe seem to have been ignored in critical studies The Myth of War in British and Polish Poetry 1939 1945 aims to fill in this critical vacuum This study concentrates on the processes through which British and Polish poetry contributed to the shaping of myths of war each offering creative interpretations of historical facts and developments Both poetic traditions are analysed in the context of their national literary heritage and historical background in order to explain the discrepancies characterising these imaginative versions of war Yet the ultimate objective is to discover spheres of convergence within a network of differences This comparative analysis of British and Polish war poetry paves the way for discussions about the relationships between national and individual experiences of history inviting consideration of how seemingly unsurpassable borders can be crossed      War and the 20th Century Christopher Coker, 1994 War has been the defining theme of the 20th century It has dominated our imagination it has influenced our political language it has shaped and determined our view of history This study sets out to look at the modern consciousness and war in terms of a number of themes our view of the 20th century our understanding of modernity our attitude to the meaning or meaninglessness of history our trust or distrust of science our psychological presuppositions Towards the end of the book the author also looks at the often tragic nature of the encounter between the western and non western worlds Throughout the study the discussion is anchored to several seminal themes or works drawn from a wide spectrum of American and European authors in the fields of literature and philosophy Western culture has been deeply influenced both consciously and unconsciously by its experience of conflict in particular the two World Wars and the Cold War that followed them This study illustrates why in the course of the 20th century war became the accredited theme of modern life      The Modern British Novel Malcolm Bradbury, 2001 Bradbury argues that almost a century since the emergence of Modernism it is now possible to see the entire period in perspective It is clear that the first 50 years from Henry James Wilde and Stevenson through James Joyce Lawrence Forster to Huxley Isherwood and Orwell have been extensively discussed in print The years since World War II though have not been examined in depth yet have produced talents such as Graham Greene Angus Wilson Beckett Doris Lessing Margaret Drabble Angela Carter Ian McEwan Kingsley and Martin Amis Julian Barnes Fay Weldon Salman Rushdie and Timothy Mo      The Honest Ulsterman, 1983      Revue de L'Association Des Humanités Humanities Association of Canada, 1978      Het radicale temperament Maarten van Rossem, 1983      Poetry in the Wars Edna Longley, 1987 In the two world wars and throughout the present Troubles in Northern Ireland poets have insisted on not serving any political or nationalist case      College Literature Bernard Stanley Oldsey, 1981      The Statesman, 1976      The Making of the British Middle Class? Alan J. Kidd, David Nicholls, 1998 The contributors to this volume examine the history of the British middle classes from the onset of the Industrial Revolution Geography economy and occupation recur as factors contributing to differentiation between middling social groups At the same time the authors explore the significance for social and political behaviour of shared forms of identity including a range of cultural practices religion voluntary activities and local cultural networks the cultivation of professional status education and the language of the press and their organization and institutional forms churches schools newspapers voluntary and charitable associations and professional bodies These several accounts raise broader theoretical and historiographical debates not least about the vexed question of class which are discussed and contextualized by the editors      The Generation Gap in Society and History Anthony Esler, 1984
