The Bad Object Handling The Negative Therapeutic Reaction In Psychotherapy:

The Bad Object Jeffrey Seinfeld,1990 This book is about the psychodynamics and treatment of the negative therapeutic reaction the patient's inability to tolerate progress in treatment With abundant clinical material Seinfeld shows how the bad object appears in the transference and in the patient's everyday interpersonal relationships and he offers therapeutic guidelines for specific clinical interventions Inside book cover A Primer of Handling the Negative Therapeutic Reaction Jeffrey Seinfeld,2002 In a negative therapeutic reaction the progress of treatment triggers a particular destructive dynamic in the patient Initially therapists considered it to be a result of the patient's pathology but contemporary clinicians recognize that the therapist may significantly contribute to this process Object relations clinicians see the individual as a social being that develops in relation to others whom the individual internalizes as good and bad objects Jeffrey Seinfeld explores how an internal sabotaging self is identified with a rejecting object This self is a reservoir of memories of how original caregivers rejected the child's needs and the patient now expects the world to reject and disappoint her If patients experience the therapist as a kind or caring person they may feel that they are being lured into dependency and subsequent disappointment Paradoxically if patients feel attached to the therapist this same attachment is experienced as a threatening dependency that must be destroyed A relationship that could eventually strengthen the personality is rejected and instead a negative reaction to the therapist and the therapeutic process is established Jeffrey Seinfeld shows that in order for patients to heal they must separate from the internal bad objects This is often done with aggression against the therapist who must be able to withstand the intense hostility rage and abuse of the patient Only by surviving this aggression in the negative therapeutic reaction can the therapist allow the patient to integrate good and bad part objects in the transference The therapist can eventually serve as a bridge in the integration of the divided good and bad selves and objects Through case histories Seinfeld illustrates his way of entering into the patient's internal world By helping patients understand the transference of their internal objects they begin to understand their own experience of self and others which leads to character change , Andere therapeuten, andere wegen. Variaties op het thema IK-steun Gaston Cluckers,1994 The Narcissistic / Borderline Couple Joan Lachkar,2004-06-01 In this second edition of her groundbreaking book Dr Joan Lachkar addresses the ever changing faces and phases of narcissism within the context of marital therapy and discusses the new developments in the treatment of marital conflict Drawing from many different theoretical frameworks mainly self psychology Kohut and object relations Klein the works of D W Winnicott and Kernberg are expanded to further explain why couples stay in painful conflictual never ending relationships traumatic bonding The new chapters case illustrations and updated treatment sequences are invaluable to both beginning and experienced clinicians The Narcissistic Borderline Couple is an essential text for every marital therapist offering an improved understanding of marital pathology within the framework of our changing world The Therapeutic Relationship in Psychoanalysis, Counselling Psychology and Psychotherapy Petrůska Clarkson,1995 It is often the therapeutic relationship between client and therapist which is more important than the theoretical orientation This book deals with the uses and abuses of the therapeutic relationship in counselling psychology psychotherapy and related fields It provides a framework for integration pluralism or deepening singularity with reference to five kinds of therapeutic relationship potentially available in every kind of counselling or psychodynamic work The original paper and framework upon which this book is based has been widely acclaimed within psychotherapeutic humanistic and psychoanalytic circles internationally It has been found useful by adherents of a single orientation as well as by practitioners who draw from several approaches In addition it has formed the basis for several courses in counselling and psychotherapy which have been recognised by national and international accrediting organisations Dealing with an issue of increasing complexity the book will be of great value and significance to psychotherapists psychoanalysts clinical and counselling psychologists and other professionals working in the field of helping human relationships such as doctors social workers teachers and counsellors Informed lay people particularly those who are involved in the helping professions may also find it of interest and benefit

Interpreting and Holding Jeffrey Seinfeld,1993 Interpreting and holding are the two major functions of the psychotherapist The former was exemplified by Freud and the latter by Winnicott The author describes the development and use of both these modalities and shows how both are used in specific therapeutic problems      Object Relations Theory and Self Psychology in Social Work Practice Eda Goldstein,2001 Object Relations and Self Psychology are two leading schools of psychological thought discussed in social work classrooms and applied by practitioners to a variety of social work populations Yet both groups have lacked a basic manual for teaching and reference until now For them Dr Eda G Goldstein s book fills a void on two fronts Part I provides a readable systematic and comprehensive review of object relations and self psychology while Part II gives readers a friendly step by step description and illustration of basic treatment techniques For educators this textbook offers a learned and accessible discussion of the major concepts and terminology treatment principles and the relationship of object relations and self psychology to classic Freudian theory Practitioners find within these pages treatment guidelines for such varied problems as illness and disability the loss of a significant other and such special problems as substance abuse child maltreatment and couple and family disruptions In a single volume Dr Goldstein has met the complex challenges of education and clinical practice      The Art of Hating Gerald Schoenewolf,1991 The world is full of hate but few people know how to hate well So begins Gerald Schoenewolf s study of hate His main argument is that most people hate in destructive ways As individuals we routinely act out hateful feelings from jealousy to loathing to bitterness to contempt to disgust to irritation to rage with hardly a backward glance We are concerned with the immediate need to protect ourselves or to get and create a climate of animosity and distrust      The Empty Core Jeffrey Seinfeld,1991 TABLE OF CONTENTS 1 A Framework for the Empty Core 2 Captured in the Reflection of the Mirror 3 Direct Interpretation of a Schizoid Obsession 4 Dissociation in Multiple Self States 5 Acting Out Addictions and Compulsions in Schizoid States 6 The Tragic Case of Ellen
