book of sport and pastime, ed. by professor Hoffmann Every boy,1897      The Language of Sport Judith Setsuko Toyama,1971      The Linguistics of Football Eva Lavric, Gerhard Pisek, Andrew Skinner, Wolfgang Stadler, 2008-06-18 The first collection of articles on this topic is as international and varied as football itself. The publication covers media discourse an online dictionary of football terms metaphors the grammar of football commentary emotions football chants and football teams as multilingual eco systems. Contributions from Sweden to Nigeria show how language operates in football. Would you know where football terms in Arabic come from? How does the German coach Otto Rehagel communicate with the Greek players? Which language did Materazzi use when insulting Zidane? Which special words do German, Polish and Igbo have for running, dribbling, penalty area and foul? In which country do the Canaries play the Roaring Lions? Where are the famous footballers enshrined in a Hall of Fame? Which metaphors do Swedish, German and Russian football commentators tend to use? Are the British really less emotional than the Spanish when it comes to football commentating? And why are commentators from Russia to Italy speechless as soon as emotions really run high? That and much more is covered in this first wide ranging compilation on the topic of football and language.      Talking Balls Andrew Delahunty, 2006 From albatross to Row Z this is your guide to the meanings and origins of hundreds of sporting terms and phrases as used by writers, sports professionals, commentators and fans alike. With such examples as pie throwing in cricket, the golden sombrero in baseball and handbags in football, the language of sport is often far removed from its logical meaning and these fanciful, creative and amusing usages allow us to look at the sports we love from a humorous and intriguing angle. Talking Balls leads stranded fans out of the corridor of uncertainty making them a fancy Dan amongst their friends or the M V P when it comes to understanding the fascinating language and expressions of sport.      Evaluative Language in Sports John Walsh, David Caldwell, Jon Jureidini, 2024-05-29 Walsh, Caldwell and Jureidini offer an expansive linguistic perspective on the evaluative language prevalent in the world of professional sports. This book presents a close linguistic analysis of evaluative language in sport. Drawing on appraisal theory and data from three distinct sporting contexts songs and chants in football stadiums, television commentary and coach discourse, it examines the critical role played by affectual, judgemental and appreciative language. In the spirit of sociolinguistics, this book also considers the history and culture of the respective sporting contexts. Connections are made between the evaluative language expressed by supporters, commentators and coaches and the invocation of power and solidarity. Evaluative Language in Sports gives insight into some of the key language practices that contribute to professional sports culture a communal and combative world of winners and losers us and them. An innovative and valuable book that will appeal to students, researchers and sports enthusiasts interested in sports communication and language, sociolinguistics and media studies.      The Badminton Magazine of Sports & Pastimes, 1899      Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes, 1871      Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes Tresham, Gilbey, 1874      Proof-sheets of a Bibliography of the Languages of the North American Indians James Constantine Pilling, 1885      The Theatre
