The Last Metro:

The Last Metro François Truffaut, Mirella Jona Affron, 1985 The Last Train to Budapest Richard Pekar, 2017-10-27
Nandor Pekar escaped communist Hungary in 1956. Trained by his father to survive in SAS type fashion for years in the heart of the Zemplen Mountains when the moment of impact arrived in 1956 Nandor ensured the Russians were faced with a well organised fearless populace which improvised with amazing bravery. This is a story of revenge, patriotism, romance and violence encompassing an emotional, thrilling tidal wave with an unexpected grand finale. Following the bloody battle for freedom, moseying amongst the depression of Budapest's merciless bludgeoned core, Nandor realises there is only one chance to be free. To escape Hungary. It would be his last chance to beat the Russians and deny them of their intentions to keep him prisoner in his own country.

Truffaut Antoine de Baecque, Serge Toubiana, 2000-09-04. Here is the definitive story of one of the most celebrated filmmakers of our time, an intensely private individual who cultivated the public image of a man consumed by his craft. But as this absorbing biography shows, Truffaut's personal story from which he drew extensively to create the characters and plots of his films is itself an extraordinary human drama.

New York Magazine, 1981-02-16. New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

François Truffaut Anne Gillain, 2013-06-07. Truffaut fans will love this English translation of Gillain's work drawing on the psychology and cinematography of the acclaimed filmmaker. Booklist. For François Truffaut, the lost secret of cinematic art is in the ability to generate emotion and reveal repressed fantasies through cinematic representation. Available in English for the first time. Anne Gillain's François Truffaut: The Lost Secret is considered by many to be the best book on the interpretation of Truffaut's films. Taking a psycho-biographical approach, Gillain shows how Truffaut's creative impulse was anchored in his personal experience of a traumatic childhood that left him lonely and emotionally deprived. In a series of brilliant, nuanced readings of each of his films, she demonstrates how involuntary memories arising from Truffaut's childhood not only furnish a succession of motifs that are repeated from film to film but also govern every aspect of his mise en scène and cinematic technique. Brilliant. A delicious reexamination that will make us want to sit down and take in all of Truffaut's wonderful filmography at once.
