11th Mediterranean Conference on Medical and Biological Engineering and Computing 2007 Tomaz Jarm,Peter Kramar,Anze Zupanic,2007-10-24 Biomedical engineering today is a well recognized area of research It brings together bright minds from diverse disciplines ranging from engineering physics and computer sciences on one side to biology and medicine on the other side With valuable assistance of members of the International Advisory Committee and Scientific Program Committee the co organizing institutions and societies our sponsors and distinguished invited lecturers we will ensure that the research and development presented at MEDICON 2007 plenary meetings scientific sessions and workshops will truly be relevant and up to date The MEDICON conferences are international events of high scientific standards with long lasting tradition held every third year in one of the Mediterranean countries under the auspices of the International Federation for Medical and Biological Engineering    Electrical Engineer ,1895    Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review ,1894    Detection and Estimation of Working Memory States and Cognitive Functions Based on Neurophysiological Measures Felix Putze,Christian Mühl,Fabien Lotte,Stephen Fairclough,Christian Herff,2019-02-05

Executive cognitive functions like working memory determine the success or failure of a wide variety of different cognitive tasks such as problem solving navigation or planning Estimation of constructs like working memory load or memory capacity from neurophysiological or psychophysiological signals would enable adaptive systems to respond to cognitive states experienced by an operator and trigger responses designed to support task performance e g by simplifying the exercises of a tutor system when the subject is overloaded or by shutting down distractions from the mobile phone The determination of cognitive states like working memory load is also useful for automated testing assessment or for usability evaluation While there exists a large body of research work on neural and physiological correlates of cognitive functions like working memory activity fewer publications deal with the application of this research with respect to single trial detection and real time estimation of cognitive functions in complex realistic scenarios Single trial classifiers based on brain activity measurements such as electroencephalography functional near infrared spectroscopy physiological signals or eye tracking have the potential to classify affective or cognitive states based upon short segments of data For this purpose signal processing and machine learning techniques need to be developed and transferred to real world user interfaces The goal of this Frontiers Research Topic was to advance the State of the Art in signal based modeling of cognitive processes We were especially interested in research towards more complex and realistic study designs for example collecting data in the wild or investigating the interaction between different cognitive processes or signal modalities Bringing together many contributions in one format allowed us to look at the state of convergence or diversity regarding concepts methods and paradigms
