Gregorio,2011-01-15 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2010 in the subject Health Miscellaneous grade 89.0% The University of Western Ontario language English abstract The Canada Health Act CHA of 1984 was enacted with the mandate to protect promote and restore the physical and mental well being of residents of Canada and to facilitate reasonable access to health services without financial or other barriers L Hughes Marsh personal communication September 20 2010 The Act has five principles public administration comprehensiveness universality portability and accessibility Canadian Health Care 2004 The CHA principles have assisted in creating the universal glorious and free healthcare system that historically

Canadians have been so proud to adopt as part of their identity The 2010 Report Card however suggests that this attitude is shifting When compared with six other developed nations on the performance of their healthcare systems Canada ranked sixth only placing ahead of the United States the one country that did not have universal healthcare coverage factors measured include quality of care access efficiency equity and health outcomes These findings suggest that Canadians no longer hold the same value for their once glorified universal healthcare system Instead the system receives an abundance of criticism for its inability to provide quality care to all citizens and is thus currently facing many challenges and structural reforms This report will outline three recommendations to improve the current Canadian healthcare system going lean in healthcare establishing universal prescription drug coverage programs and incorporating virtual health practices into the Canadian healthcare system

Treating Health Care Raisa B. Deber, 2018-01-01 Focusing on Canada's health care system Raisa B Deber introduces the reader to the facts and concepts necessary to understand health care policy in Canada and to evaluate how we might want to reform our health care system

Health Systems in Transition Gregory P. Marchildon, 2013-01-01 The health care system in Canada is much discussed in the international sphere but often overlooked when it comes to its highly decentralized administration and regulation Health Systems in Transition Canada provides an objective description and analysis of the public private and mixed components that make up health care in Canada today including the federal provincial intergovernmental and regional dynamics within the public system Gregory P Marchildon's study offers a statistical and visual description of the many facets of Canadian health care financing administration and service delivery along with relevant comparisons to five other countries systems This second edition includes a major update on health data and institutions a new appendix of federal laws concerning select provincial and territorial Medicare legislation and for the first time a comprehensive and searchable index It also provides a more complete assessment of the Canadian health system based on financial protection efficiency equity user experience quality of care and health outcomes Balancing careful assessment summary and illustration Health Systems in Transition Canada is a thorough and illuminating look at one of the nation's most complex public policies and associated institutions

Toward a Healthcare Strategy for Canadians A. Scott Carson, Jeffrey Dixon, Kim Richard Nossal, 2015-05-01 While Canadians are proud of their healthcare system the reality is that it is fragmented and disorganized Instead of a pan Canadian system it is a system of systems thirteen provincial and territorial systems and a federal system As a result Canadian healthcare has not only become one of the costliest in the world but is falling well behind many developed countries in terms of quality Canadians increasingly realize that their healthcare system is no longer fiscally sustainable yet change remains elusive The standard claim is that Canada's multijurisdictional approach makes system wide reform nearly impossible Toward a Healthcare Strategy for Canadians disputes this reasoning making the case for a comprehensive system wide made in Canada healthcare strategy It looks at the mechanics of change and suggests ways in which the various participants in the system governments healthcare professionals the private sector and patients can work collaboratively to transform a second rate system Addressing critical issues of health human resources electronic health records integrated care and pharmacare Toward a Healthcare Strategy for Canadians shows how a system wide strategic approach to this crucial policy area can make a difference in Canada s healthcare system in the future Health and Health Care Delivery in Canada - E-Book Valerie D.
