Newell, 1898      Wheeling through Toronto Albert Koehl, 2024-05-01 Highlighting an important yet often ignored part of Toronto's transportation story Wheeling through Toronto chronicles the history of the bicycle and reveals a way forward for a world in climate crisis Throughout its history in Toronto the bicycle's place on the roads and in public esteem has fluctuated wildly flaunted as fashionable disparaged and derided rescued from looming obscurity and promoted as a way to respond to the challenges of the day What is it about the simple bicycle that it can be so loved by some yet despised and detested by others Wheeling through Toronto offers a 130 year ride from the 1890s to the present to help answer this question Albert Koehl a Toronto lawyer and leading cycling advocate chronicles the tumultuous history of this mode of transportation from the bicycle craze at the turn of the century to the rise of the car and the motorway in the 1950s to the intensifying cry for active transportation in the 1990s and into pandemic times In an era of catastrophic climate events Wheeling through Toronto highlights how the bicycle should be celebrated not only as hope for the future but also for its affordability for its contribution to clean and healthy mobility and because it brings happiness and joy to so many Drawing on archival materials newspapers and personal interviews and full of fascinating vignettes this book presents the story of how we got here and what Torontonians need to know as we pedal forward      Locomotive Engineers Journal, 1898      The Cinder Path Catherine Cookson, 1979      The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry Peter Robinson, 2013-09-26 The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry offers thirty eight chapters of ground breaking research that form a collaborative guide to the many groupings and movements the locations and styles as well as concerns aesthetic political cultural and ethical that have helped shape contemporary poetry in Britain and Ireland The book's introduction offers an anthropological participant observer approach to its variously conflicted subjects while exploring the limits and openness of the contemporary as a shifting and never wholly knowable category The five ensuing sections explore a history of the period's poetic movements its engagement with form technique and the other arts its association with particular locations and places its connection with and difference from poetry in other parts of the world and its circling around such ethical issues as whether poetry can perform actions in the world can atone redress or repair and how its significance is inseparable from acts of evaluation in both poets and readers Though the book is not structured to feature chapters on authors thought to be canonical on the principle that contemporary writers are by definition not yet canonical the volume contains commentary on many prominent poets as well as finding space for its contributors' enthusiasms for numerous less familiar figures It has been organized to be read from cover to cover as an ever deepening exploration of a complex field to be read in one or more of its five thematically structured sections or indeed to be read by picking out single chapters or discussions of poets that particularly interest its individual readers

Poetics of Loss Katharina Lempe, 2015 With the removal of death from the public sphere mourning has become a private matter At the same time particularly in poetry the trend is reversed An intensely elegiac quality and a focus on absence death and loss can be observed in contemporary Anglophone poetry This study examines the poetry of Andrew Motion in the context of the contemporary elegy a genre which is at a crossroads between the anti-consolatory refusal to mourn the inability to move past grief and the strong wish for redemption from grief Motion's poetry which mainly deals with preemptive attempts to cope with loss can be seen as a typical example for the contemporary melancholy mood in poetry Series Erlanger Studies of English and American Studies Erlanger Studien zur Anglistik und Amerikanistik Vol 15 Subject Poetry Death Studies Literary Criticism      The Editor; the Journal of Information for Literary Workers, 1896
