Teachers And Assistants Working Together Vincett, Karen, Cremin, Hilary, Thomas, Gary, 2005-06-01
Few areas of education can equal the growth rate of that for teaching assistants over the past seven years doubling to more than 133 000 in England between 1997 to 2004. TAs are vital in the development of inclusive education yet their status pay conditions qualifications and their relationship with classroom teachers are all of deep concern in the majority of cases. This excellent practical book is a welcome and much needed authoritative study of the all important relationship between TA and teacher. Mark Vaughan OBE Founder and Co Director Centre for Studies on Inclusive Education. This is an excellent book founded in action research that enables it to go beyond the seat of the pants methodology that informs much material on TA teacher partnerships TES. This book is for teachers and teaching assistants seeking to improve the ways in which they work together to meet the needs of children in their classes. It outlines the thinking behind the employment of teaching assistants in the classroom and spells out some of the teamworking opportunities and problems that can arise. Drawing on original research it explores ways in which teachers and teaching assistants can work together to support children's learning and examines different models of working together. This unique book provides Highly effective models for working together tried and tested in schools. A practical section with activities hand outs and photocopiable resources that teachers can use to develop these models in their own schools. This is a key text for classroom teachers teaching assistants trainee teachers and postgraduate education students and those studying for foundation degrees for teaching assistants. It is also of use to parents, headteachers, educational psychologists and other support personnel.

A Handbook for Learning Support Assistants Glenys Fox, 2009-05-07
Written in the context of recent legislation in England and guidance to schools this is a practical handbook for learning support assistants and teachers working with them. It can be used to ensure that support assistants know what to expect of colleagues and colleagues know what to expect from support assistants. Children are given the best support possible by support assistants who understand the nature of their needs. Support assistants and teachers work together effectively to support the child with special needs and that training is relevant and helpful.
