Technical Difficulties June Jordan,1994 A noted scholar discusses such topics as the American myths of race and class the link between poetry and politics the poverty of American education and African American literature by women

Postcolonial Theory and the United States Amritjit Singh,Peter Schmidt,2009-11-12 At the beginning of the twenty first century we may be in a transnational moment increasingly aware of the ways in which local and national narratives in literature and elsewhere cannot be conceived apart from a radically new sense of shared human histories and global interdependence To think transnationally about literature history and culture requires a study of the evolution of hybrid identities within nation states and diasporic identities across national boundaries Studies addressing issues of race ethnicity and empire in US culture have provided some of the most innovative and controversial contributions to recent scholarship Postcolonial Theory and the United States Race Ethnicity and Literature represents a new chapter in the emerging dialogues about the importance of borders on a global scale This book collects nineteen essays written in the 1990s in this emergent field by both well established and up and coming scholars Almost all the essays have been either especially written for this volume or revised for inclusion here These essays are accessible well focused resources for college and university students and their teachers displaying both historical depth and theoretical finesse as they attempt close and lively readings The anthology includes more than one discussion of each literary tradition associated with major racial or ethnic communities Such a gathering of diverse complementary and often competing viewpoints provides a good introduction to the cultural differences and commonalities that comprise the United States today The volume opens with two essays by the editors first a survey of the ideas in the individual pieces and second a long essay that places current debates in US ethnicity and race studies within both the history of American studies as a whole and recent developments in postcolonial theory African American Literature Hans Ostrom,J. David Macey Jr.,2019-11-15 This essential volume provides an overview of and introduction to African American writers and literary periods from their beginnings through the 21st century This compact encyclopedia aimed at students selects the most important authors literary movements and key topics for them to know Entries cover the most influential and highly regarded African American writers including novelists playwrights poets and nonfiction writers The book covers key periods of African American literature such as the Harlem Renaissance the Black Arts Movement and the Civil Rights Era and touches on the influence of the vernacular including blues and hip hop The volume provides historical context for critical viewpoints including feminism social class and racial politics Entries are organized A to Z and provide biographies that focus on the contributions of key literary figures as well as overviews background information and definitions for key subjects Arab and Arab American Feminisms Rabab Abdulhadi,Evelyn Alsultany,Nadine Naber,2011-04-05 In this collection Arab and Arab American feminists enlist their intimate experiences to challenge simplistic and long held assumptions about gender sexuality and commitments to feminism and justice centered struggles among Arab communities Contributors hail from multiple geographical sites spiritualities occupations sexualities class backgrounds and generations Poets creative writers artists scholars and activists employ a mix of genres to express feminist issues and highlight how Arab and Arab American feminist perspectives simultaneously inhabit multiple overlapping and intersecting spaces within families and communities in anticolonial and antiracist struggles in debates over spirituality and the divine within radical feminist and queer spaces in academia and on the street and among each other Contributors explore themes as diverse as the intersections between gender sexuality Orientalism racism Islamophobia and Zionism and the restoration of Arab Jews to Arab American histories This book asks how members of diasporic communities navigate their sense of belonging when the country in which they live wages wars in the lands of their ancestors Arab and Arab American Feminisms opens up new possibilities for placing grounded Arab and Arab American feminist perspectives at the center of gender studies Middle East studies American studies and ethnic studies
