Venture Capital and the Corporate Governance of Chinese Listed Companies Lin Zhang, 2024-10-22 During the last ten years China has made remarkable progress in the development of its venture capital market however Chinese domestic venture capital has been marginalized by American competitors Using American venture capital as a mirror this book empirically demonstrates that Chinese domestic venture capital lacks the four factors related to the success of their American counterparts large and independent funding application of incentive mechanisms efficient exit channels and a high risk tolerance level More importantly the author shows how these defects are closely linked to the corporate governance of state controlled listed companies Featuring updated data and new developments since the publication of the first edition in 2012 with a focus on corporate social responsibility and the stakeholder oriented model in Chinese small and medium sized enterprises SMEs this new edition demonstrates the negative economic and social impact of corporate governance of Chinese state controlled listed companies and identifies potential policy reforms to harmonize agency costs and adaptive efficiency This book is great for researchers scholars students and policymakers interested in corporate governance of Chinese venture capital markets Multinationals and Political Control John Robinson,1983 Monograph on the growing trend towards political control regulation of multinational enterprises esp In Western Europe covering economic and legal aspects discusses international agreements and the role of UN EC and OECD in response to trade union and other interest group pressure regarding access to information taxation monopoly employment security labour relations code of practice strategy etc References Thanks But No Thanks Alvaro Cuervo-Cazurra,2018 I study the impact of the internationalization of state owned companies from emerging markets on host country government policy Whereas the literature commonly recommends that host country governments design policies to attract foreign direct investment governments instead question or block investments by state owned firms from emerging markets I address this conflict between theory and practices by separating the causes of this behavior into six types depending on the characteristics of the firm i e state ownership and emerging market origin and the logic i e economics politics and psychology I suggest the development of ex ante rule based policies that provide clarity address concerns and support the benefits of inward investments while limiting state capture by domestic interests Thus I explain how economic concerns over national security sectors and strategic technologies can be dealt with via exclusion the political worries over opacity and weak governance can be addressed through monitoring and the psychological anxieties of unfriendly governments and loss of relative status can be ameliorated using controls Governments and Multinationals Anant R. Negandhi,1983 Governments as Owners Alvaro Cuervo-Cazurra,Andrew C.
