Brian Smith

The Making Of The Shetland Landscape:

The Making of the Shetland Landscape Susan A. Knox, 1985 Studies of Shetland's economy tend to focus on its maritime aspects while the complementary agricultural system receives little direct attention The traditional resources of Shetland are more evenly balanced between land and sea than those of either Faroe or Orkney This title seeks to give the agriculture of Shetland the weight it merits

Landscapes of Protest in the Scottish Highlands after 1914 Iain J.M. Robertson, 2016-04-15 In November 1918 the implementation of agrarian change in the Scottish Highlands threatened another wave of unemployment and eviction for the land working population which led to widespread and varied social protest Those who had been away on war service and their families faced returning to exactly the same social and economic conditions in the Scottish Highlands they had hoped they had left behind in the struggle to make a land fit for heroes Widespread and varied social protest rapidly followed It argues that previously there has been a failure to capture fully the geography chronology typology and rate of occurrence of these events The book not only offers new insights and a greater understanding of what was happening in the Highlands in this period but illustrates how a range of forms of protest were used which demand attention not least for the fact that these events unlike most of the earlier Land Wars period were successful There are functioning townships in the Highlands today that owe their existence to the land invasions of the 1920s The book innovatively concentrates on formulating explanation and interpretation from within and looks to the crofting landscape as base means and motive to disturbance and interpretation It proposes that protest is much more convincingly understood as an expression of environmental ethics from the bottom up coming increasingly into conflict with conservationist views expressed from the top down It focuses on individual case studies in order to engage more convincingly with an important evidential base that of popular memory of land disturbances and to adopt a frame and lens through which to explore the fluid and contingent nature of protest performances Based upon the belief that in the study of landscapes of social protest the old shibboleth of space as solely passive setting and symbolic register is no longer tenable is paid here to nature culture interactions to vernacular ecological b

The Trials of Mary Johnsaughter Christine De Luca, 2022-06-15 A cold sweat had spread over Mary as she listened What she was hearing was sounding ever more like a premonition adultery was nearly as bad as murder Shetland 1773 a land of hand to mouth living and tight community ties overshadowed by the ever watchful eye of the kirk an institution run by auld men for auld men In this fictionalised retelling of historical events young Waas lass Mary Johnsaughter stands accused of having sinned in the eyes of the church after the Batchelor a ship bursting with emigrants seeking new lives in North Carolina is left stranded upon Shetland's shores Will she survive the humiliation Will she become an outcast Will one moment cost her everything A tale of Shetland folk knit out of Shetlandic voices and real parish records The Trials of Mary Johnsdaughter pits the bonds of friends and family against the grip of the kirk Only one thing is clear then as now Hit's no aesy livin in a peerie place Common Land in Britain Angus J. L. Winchester, 2022 The first authoritative survey of the history of common land in Great Britain from the medieval period to present day More than a million hectares of Britain has the status of common land most of it consisting of semi natural environments of mountain moorland wetland or heath Formerly much more extensive common land was and in many places remains an integral part of the pastoral economy Even where it is no longer used by farmers it plays an increasingly important role in modern life as recreational space and for its value for nature conservation This book provides for the first time an authoritative survey of the history of common land across all three nations of Great Britain from medieval times to the present day It charts how commons have been viewed and valued across the centuries how they have been used and how their vegetation has changed highlighting parallels and differences between the histories of common land in England Scotland and Wales It traces the distinctive legal status of common land and the management regimes which regulated the exercise of common rights considers the role of commons as spaces for communal gatherings and as a resource for the poor charts the loss of common land but also its persistence during the era of enclosure in the century 1760 1860 and explores the changing conceptions of the value and right use of commons since the nineteenth century and the impact this has had on their ecological character Eight case studies of individual commons illustrate the richness of common landscapes and their history at local level They include crofters common grazings in Sutherland mountain commons in the Lake District and Snowdonia lowland commons in Co Durham Herefordshire and the New Forest turbarry allotments in Lincolnshire and the urban commons of Wimbledon and Putney Heath Shetland's Living Landscape David Spence, 1979 Handbook for British and Irish Archaeology, 1997 A one stop truly comprehensive dedicated and reliable sourcebook for archaeology Ouncelands and Pennylands L. Schroeder, 2007 It is difficult to imagine modern archaeology without radio carbon dating geophysics analytical chemistry or the input of the social and historical sources Archaeology is inevitably an interdisciplinary enterprise perhaps more so than any other field But with the ever increasing specialisation of modern research in general it becomes more and more difficult to communicate across disciplinary boundaries this is one of the major challenges modern archaeology faces today This volume is the outcome of a two day conference held at the University of Oxford that focused on the opportunities and challenges of interdisciplinary approaches to archaeology
