The Making of the South Wales Landscape Moelwyn I. Williams, 1975

British and Irish Archaeology, 1994

Society and Economy in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown, 2002-11-01

For both contemporaries and later historians the Industrial Revolution is viewed as a turning point in modern British history. There is no doubt that change occurred but what was the nature of that change and how did it affect rural and urban society. Beginning with an examination of the nature of history and Britain in 1700, this volume focuses on the economic and social aspects of the Industrial Revolution. Unlike many previous textbooks on the same period, it emphasizes British history and deals with developments in Wales, Scotland, and Ireland in their own right. It is the emphasis on the diversity, not the uniformity, of experience on continuities as well as change in this crucial period of development which makes this volume distinctive. In his companion title, Richard Brown completes his examination of the period and looks at the changes that took place in Britain's political system and in its religious affiliations.

Writing Welsh History

Huw Pryce, 2022. The first book to explore how the history of Wales and the Welsh has been written over the past fifteen hundred years, analysing and contextualizing historical writing from Gildas in the sixth century to recent global approaches to open new perspectives both on the history of Wales and on understandings of Wales and the Welsh.

Landscape and Settlement in Medieval Wales Nancy Edwards, 1997

Recent research and fieldwork on the settlement and landscape of Medieval Wales presented at the 1994 meeting of the Welsh Archaeological Congress is here set down for all to read. The contributions are: Landscape and settlement; Nancy Edwards, Wetland reclamation on the Gwent levels; Stephen Rippon, Landscape of Gwent and the Marches as seen through the Charters; C Hurley, The royal courts of the Welsh princes in Gwynedd AD 400-1283; David Longley, The locations of the royal courts of 13th century Gwynedd; N Johnston, Aerial photography and historic landscape on the Great Orme; Llandudno; M Aris, Place names and vegetation history as a key to understanding settlement in the Conwy Valley; D Hooke, Transhumance and settlement on the Welsh uplands; A view from the Black Mountain; A Ward, Historic settlement surveys in Clwyd and Powys; Robert Silvester, Post conquest and pre conquest villages in Pembrokeshire; J Kissock, Small boroughs in south west Wales; K Murphy, New Radnor: the topography of a planned town; R J Silvester, Medieval Wales: a summing up; Christopher Dyer.

Church and State in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown, 2002-01-04

In this, the second part of his history of the Industrial Revolution, Richard Brown examines the political and religious developments which took place in Britain between the 1780s and 1840s in terms of the aristocratic elite and through the expression of alternative radical ideologies. Opening with a discussion of the nature of history and of Britain in 1700, it goes on to consider Britain's foreign policy, the emergence of the modern state, and the mid-century crisis of the 1840s. Unlike many previous works, it emphasises British, not just English, history. It is this diversity of experience and the focus on continuity as well as change, women as well as men, that makes this a distinctive text. Students will also find the theoretical foundations of historical narrative and analysis clearly explained Landscapes and Landforms of England and Wales Andrew Goudie, Piotr Migoń, 2020-05-10 This book presents the geomorphological diversity of England and Wales These regions are characterised by an extraordinary range of landforms and landscapes reflecting both the occurrence of many different rock types and drastic climatic changes over the last few million years including ice sheet expansion and decay The book begins by providing the geological and geomorphological context needed in order to understand this diversity in a relatively small area In turn it presents nearly thirty case studies on specific landscapes and landforms all of which are landmarks in the territory discussed These include the famous coastal cliffs and landslides granite tors of Dartmoor formerly glaciated mountains of Snowdonia and the Lake District karst of Yorkshire and many others The geomorphology of London and the Thames is also included Providing a unique reference guide to the geomorphology of England and Wales the book is lavishly illustrated with diagrams colour maps and photos and written in an easy to read style The contributing authors are distinguished geomorphologists with extensive experience in research writing and communicating science to the public The book will not only be of interest to geoscientists but will also benefit specialists in landscape research geoconservation tourism and environmental protection

Research in Landscape Architecture Adri van den Brink, Diedrich Bruns, Hilde Tobi, Simon Bell, 2016-11-10 Defining a research question describing why it needs to be answered and explaining how methods are selected and applied are challenging tasks for anyone embarking on academic research within the field of landscape architecture Whether you are an early career researcher or a senior academic it is essential to draw meaningful conclusions and robust answers to research questions Research in Landscape Architecture provides guidance on the rationales needed for selecting methods and offers direction to help to frame and design academic research within the discipline Over the last couple of decades the traditional orientation in landscape architecture as a field of professional practice has gradually been complemented by a growing focus on research This book will help you to develop the connections between research teaching and practice to help you to build a common framework of theory and research methods Bringing together contributions from landscape architects across the world this book covers a broad range of research methodologies and examples to help you conduct research successfully Also included is a study in which the editors discuss the most important priorities for the research within the discipline over the coming years This book will provide a definitive path to developing research within landscape architecture
