The Making Of Religion 1898:

The Making and Unmaking of the Psychology of Religion Matei Iagher,2024-03-18 This book examines the rise and demise of the psychology of religion in the late 19th and early 20th centuries in Europe and the United States It considers the formation of the psychology of religion as an international movement an enterprise whose goal was to refashion the science of religion at the turn of the century Drawing on published sources and archival accounts the chapters engage with the work of notable figures including William James C G Jung and Pierre Janet placing it alongside lesser known practitioners such as Ernest Murisier James Henry Leuba James Pratt and George Albert Coe In addition to probing the intellectual background and professional context for the emergence of this sub discipline the book examines the development of key concepts and methodologies among psychologists of religion and offers arguments both for the rise of the discipline as well as for its demise in the early decades of the 20th century

The Science of Religion in Britain, 1860-1915 Marjorie Wheeler-Barclay,2010-10-21 Marjorie Wheeler Barclay argues that although the existence and significance of the science of religion has been barely visible to modern scholars of the Victorian period it was a subject of lively and extensive debate among nineteenth century readers and audiences She shows how an earlier generation of scholars in Victorian Britain attempted to arrive at a dispassionate understanding of the psychological and social meanings of religious beliefs and practices a topic not without contemporary resonance in a time when so many people feel both empowered and threatened by religious passion and provides the kind of history she feels has been neglected Wheeler Barclay examines the lives and work of six scholars Friedrich Max Mller Edward B Tylor Andrew Lang William Robertson Smith James G Frazer and Jane Ellen Harrison She illuminates their attempts to create a scholarly non apologetic study of religion and religions that drew upon several different disciplines including anthropology sociology the classics and Oriental studies and relied upon contributions from those outside as well as within the universities This intellectual enterprise variously known as comparative religion the history of religions or the science of religion was primarily focused on non Christian religions Yet in Wheeler Barclay s study of the history of this field within the broad contexts of Victorian cultural intellectual social and political history she traces the links between the emergence of the science of religion to debates about Christianity and to the history of British imperialism the latter of which made possible the collection of so much of the ethnographic data on which the scholars relied and which legitimized exploration and conquest Far from promoting an anti religious or materialistic agenda the science of religion opened up cultural space for an exploration of religion that was not constricted by the terms of contemporary conflicts over Darwin and the Bible and that made it possible to think in new and more flexible ways about the very definition of religion

On the Margins of Religion Frances Pine,João de Pina-Cabral,2008 Focusing on places objects bodies narratives and ritual spaces where religion may be found or inscribed the authors reveal the role of religion in contesting rights to places to knowledge and to property as well as access to resources Through analyses of specific historical processes in terms of responses to socio economic and political change the chapters consider implicitly or explicitly the problematic relation between science including social sciences and anthropology in particular and religion and how this connects to the new religious globalisation of the twenty first century Their ethnographies highlight the embodiment of religion and its location in landscapes built spaces and religious sites which may be contested physically or ideologically or encased in memory and often in silence Taken together they show the importance of religion as a resource to the believers a source of solace spiritual comfort and self willed submission Bulletin of the Library Company of Philadelphia Library Company of Philadelphia,1894
