

Making Modern World: Modernising War, 1756-1914

Introduction:

Military History: a subject that has suffered from a dominant orthodoxy – weapons, battles and campaigns, leaders, techniques, morale and sometimes logistics.

Criticism: too narrow a focus; suspicion that the subject isn't truly academic or is the preserve of weapons-fetishists, the right wing. Seemed to be an anachronistic approach to history (purely politics and 'great men').

New Military History: an attempt to include the social history of servicemen, women in war, civilians (eg in garrisons, or as refugees and victims), culture, and economics.

Criticism: 'history of war with all the fighting taken out': the key aspect of war is the fighting – it's where the decisions are made and often where the conflict is resolved

New debates:

'Modern war'? Modernity is a relative concept. It's not clear what was modern, or when, as it was always changing. Furthermore, apparently archaic armies, under the right circumstances, could still defeat so-called 'modern' armies.

Paradigmatic concepts (favoured by military personnel) – but history of war doesn't fit the model. American armed services refer to their 'full-spectrum dominance' (air waves, land, sea and air forces, intelligence), but that doesn't prevent casualties to insurgency in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Western-centric: non-Western forms of war neglected because of rise of the West in 18th-20th centuries. Comparatively little study of wars in Africa and Asia in 20th century compared with campaigns involving Western powers (e.g. Indonesia in WWII, Africa in the Cold War years)

Now (2006), Niall Ferguson posits that there was not a series of wars in the 20 century but a single hundred years' war – This is unconvincing, roots of the First World War lay in the 19 century, so why not say war was a continuum for 150, 200, or even 300 years. Clearly there were episodes of peace even when causes of conflict were still existent (Britain 1919-39).

Modalities of war: are terrorists and guerrillas any different? If war is not declared, is it still a war? Are civil wars examined as critically, or by the same criteria, as conventional wars between states? Growing awareness that unlimited force does not guarantee success in asymmetrical warfare.

Changing Fronts in Warfare

Technology

Increasing sophistication, standardization, mass production (cheap, abundant, replaceable parts)... increasing lethality in the hands of fewer and fewer men (musket - 100 metres, potential to kill one every minute; cruise missile - 100s of miles, could detonate a nuclear device and kill 000s.)

But – wrongly attributed with 'determining' the outcome of wars. It is simply not true that the side with the most sophisticated weapons won the battles/war – colonial wars in 19th century, Vietnam War and Afghanistan-Soviet struggle in 20th century.

Creating Modern Neuroscience: The Revolutionary 1950s Gordon M. Shepherd MD, DPhil, 2009-10-28 For modern scientists history often starts with last week's journals and is regarded as largely a quaint interest compared with the advances of today. However this book makes the case that measured by major advances the greatest decade in the history of brain studies was mid twentieth century especially the 1950s. The first to focus on worldwide contributions in this period the book ranges through dozens of astonishing discoveries at all levels of the brain from DNA Watson and Crick through growth factors Hamburger and Levi Montalcini excitability Hodgkin and Huxley synapses Katz and Eccles dopamine and Parkinson's Carlsson visual processing Hartline and Kuffler the cortical column Mountcastle reticular activating system Moruzzi and Magoun and REM sleep Aserinsky to stress Selye learning Hebb and memory HM and Milner. The clinical fields are also covered from Cushing and Penfield psychosurgery and brain energy metabolism Kety to most of the major psychoactive drugs in use today beginning with Delay and Deniker and much more. The material has been the basis for a highly successful advanced undergraduate and graduate course at Yale with the classic papers organized and accessible on the web. There is interest for a wide range of readers academic and lay because there is a focus on the creative process itself on understanding how the combination of unique personalities innovative hypotheses and new methods led to the advances. Insight is given into this process through describing the struggles between male and female student and mentor academic and private sector and the roles of chance and persistence. The book thus provides a new multidisciplinary understanding of the revolution that created the modern field of neuroscience and set the bar for judging current and future advances.
