Solar Control & Shading Devices, 1957 Solar Control & Shading Devices. [With Illustrations.]. Aladár OLGAYAY (and OLGAYAY (Victor)), 1957 Solar Control and Shading Devices Aladar Olgyay, 1957 Solar Shading Systems: Design, Performance, and Integrated Photovoltaics Maria Mandalaki, Theocharis Tsoutsos, 2019-07-19 This is the first book to describe the development of and state of the art in solar shading devices in buildings detailing all methods of evaluating shading systems according to thermal and visual comfort The issue of energy balance in buildings is gaining importance as conventional energy sources dwindle and become more expensive As such environmental concerns should be considered in overall design decisions The book discusses the role sun control machines play in controlling solar and thermal radiation It examines their geometry their position in relation to glazing and their operation in the cases of movable systems to control the heat and light entering a building as well as how their material and color influence their performance This book appeals to architects and designers who are interested in efficient energy facade design Solar Control and Shading Devices ... Olgyay and Olgyay, 1957 Design for Improved Solar Shading Control, 2006 Solar control and shading devices Victor Olgyay, 1976 Solar control and shading devices Olopjan, 1957 Integration of Solar Control and Window Systems Mark Allen Smith, 1984 Proceedings of the ... National Passive Solar Conference, 1996 Associative Design for Building Envelopes' Sun Control and Shading Devices Karla Grijalva, 2012 In geographical locations with hot arid climates sun control in buildings is one primary problem to solve for the building envelope design Today's technological advances in building science bring with them the opportunity to design dynamic facade systems for sun radiation control and daylighting Although dynamic systems can become an attractive visual element they can be costly and challenging to maintain for building owners Alternatively fixed solar shading systems can be designed to create dynamism in the facade of the building while providing similar functionalities for sun control The work presented in this project focuses on the use of a visual scripting editor for modeling software Grasshopper to develop a Solar Control Visual Script that evaluates building envelope surfaces with planar and non uniform rational basis spline NURBS forms and provides projections for fixed sun control systems The design platform of Grasshopper allows individuals with no experience or prior computer coding education to build up programming like capabilities this feature permits users to discover new design possibilities within flexible frames that can contribute to the overall design being pursued while also having an environmental response The Solar Control Visual Script provides minimum sizing geometries that achieve shading in openings at a particular date and time of the year The model for this method of analysis makes use of three components to derive the appropriate values for the projections of shading geometries typical meteorological year TMY data irradiation isotropic equations and shading profile angles equations for vertical and tilted surfaces Providing an automatic visual of generated geometries uncovers the opportunity to test several model forms and reiterates the analysis when modifying control parameters By employing building science as a set of environmental parameters the design outcome bears a dynamic form that responds to natural force conditions The optimized results promote an efficient environmental design solution for sun control as an integral alternative into the building envelope Passive Solar Heating Design Ralph M.
