Solo Marc Woodworth, 1998. This first of its kind collection vibrates with the high voltage energy of today's most exciting female singer-songwriters as they speak out, look inside and reveal their lives. Sarah McLachlan: When I sang and played I'd get completely lost in what I was doing. During that time I was no longer this stupid, useless little ten year old who didn't have any friends. I was someplace else where none of that could touch me. Jewel: Fame exists in other people's minds. I can't experience my own fame at all but I experience it in other people's eyes when I look at them and see that they're scared. Shawn Colvin: Giving up addiction was the springboard into adult thinking. I realized that everything was a choice. The world was an open book. Nothing was the same after that. Sheryl Crow: I always pictured myself as a loner off living like a Jack Kerouac character or worse, someone out of a Charles Bukowski book, one of those down-and-outers who works at a gas station and has no one and no family. Lucinda Williams: I don't want to offend anyone but I like to push people's buttons. While I want to appeal to people in all walks of life, I also want to get a response, make them think.
