Becoming a Sports Coach James Wallis, John

Lambert, 2015-11-06 A coach is more than just somebody who leads in the organisation and delivery of structured sport. The role of a coach goes beyond leadership, requiring an understanding of theories of teaching and learning. To become a coach, you must know how people learn. Becoming a Sports Coach aims to introduce the multi-dimensional and interlocking knowledge bases that any aspiring coach will need to develop and that any established coach needs to master in order to improve their professional practice. While traditional coach education pathways have focused on what to coach, this book argues that understanding how knowledge can be communicated to learners is just as important. Asking why we coach through critical reflection and self-knowledge is also an essential part of the process of becoming a sports coach. The book explores three types of knowledge: content knowledge, pedagogic knowledge, and self-knowledge, challenging the reader to reflect on their own coaching experiences and to develop a personal philosophy of coaching. It explores key pedagogic themes in contemporary coaching studies, such as humanistic coaching, inclusive practice, coaching for understanding, and the athlete-coach relationship. Real case studies are used to illuminate the ways transferrable across sports in which coaches can apply theory to practice and ultimately enhance their work. With contributions from leading coaching researchers and practitioners combining practical guidance with important theoretical insights, this book will help any coaching student or developing professional to better understand the journey to becoming an effective sports coach.

Evaluation in Sport and Leisure

Andrew Adams, Kevin Harris, 2022-08-12 This book presents a critical assessment of evaluation theory and practice in sport and leisure. It considers established and emerging forms of evaluation, examines typologies, issues, contexts, and processes, and asks how evaluation practice can be improved in the future. The book seeks to uncover some of the tensions and dilemmas that are present in choosing and applying evaluation strategies. It considers the relationship between evaluation context and evaluator to discern how and why a particular strategy is employed. It also highlights how power relationships affect and effect the evaluation process itself, as well as those involved in conducting evaluations. The book encourages the reader to challenge accepted methodologies in evaluation whilst acknowledging the central importance of evaluation and evidence for our understanding of the social impact and value of sport and leisure. This book is important reading for any student, researcher, practitioner, or policy maker with an interest in sport, leisure, and society, sport and leisure management policy or development, leisure studies, or the wider relationship between sport, leisure, wellbeing, and society.

Sport Development in Action Alec Astle, Sarah Leberman, Geoff Watson, 2018-10-10 This practical textbook explains the sport development process from a practitioner's viewpoint, showing what actually works, how, and why. Focusing on the development of sport, the book considers the efforts of sport organisations to revitalise their sports at a community level to ensure their future relevance, growth, and sustainability. Full of real-world cases and data, as well as the voices and reflections of a wide range of practitioners, Sport Development in Action explains how to research and draw up a development plan, how to design and implement programmes and establish delivery networks and how to monitor and evaluate initiatives This is essential reading for any sport development course and useful reading for courses in sport management sports coaching or sports studies It is also an indispensable reference book for practitioners Business Research Yearbook ,2007 Whatever Happened to the Leisure Society? Paul Gilchrist,Belinda Wheaton,2008 LSA 2007 What ever happened to the leisure society aims to turn the leisure studies multi disciplinary gaze to the shifts in leisure practices industries cultures and economies over the past 30 years or so The call for this timely reflection aims not only to consider work leisure shifts but also seeks to evaluate developments in the theorising of leisure The conference is aimed at academics including researchers research students and lecturers in leisure studies politics economics history sociology cultural studies cultural policy social policy and media studies Practitioners in the leisure services public private and voluntary will be attracted to the conference by distinctive policy and practice based contributions Practitioners from the cultural industries including market researchers industry analysts and cultural commentators will also find the conference of interest International Review for the Sociology of Sport ,2008-06
