

The image shows a grayscale map of a coastal or island region. A prominent red line, likely a survey or boundary line, runs horizontally across the center of the map. The line starts from the left edge, crosses a small island or peninsula, and then continues across the main landmass. On the left side of the map, the text "The Scratching Post" is written in a stylized, handwritten font. On the right side, the text "Solomon's Folly" is also written in a similar font. The map features various black lines representing coastlines and internal boundaries. In the top right corner, there is a small digital interface element consisting of a white crosshair inside a black square, with a small "1" and a "+" symbol nearby, suggesting a zoom or navigation function.
