

THE ACQUISITION OF A SECOND WRITING SYSTEM

A person is shown from the side, wearing a dark jacket, writing on a large, dark, rectangular tablet. They are holding a stylus in their right hand. The background is a light, textured surface, possibly a wall or a large sheet of paper. The overall tone is academic and focused.

The Acquisition Of A Second Writing System:

Second Language Writing Systems Vivian Cook, Benedetta Bassetti, 2005-01-01 Second Language Writing Systems looks at how people learn and use a second language writing system arguing that they are affected by characteristics of the first and second writing systems to a certain extent independently of the languages involved This book for the first time presents the effects of writing systems on second language reading and writing and on second language awareness and provides a new platform for discussing bilingualism biliteracy and writing systems Why English? Pauline Bunce, Robert

Phillipson, Vaughan Rapatahana, Ruanni Tupas, 2016-06-10 This book explores the ways and means by which English threatens the vitality and diversity of other languages and cultures in the modern world Using the metaphor of the Hydra monster from ancient Greek mythology it explores the use and misuse of English in a wide range of contexts revealing how the dominance of English is being confronted and counteracted around the globe The authors explore the language policy challenges for governments and education systems at all levels and show how changing the role of English can lead to greater success in education for a larger proportion of children Through personal accounts poems essays and case studies the book calls for greater efforts to ensure the maintenance of the world's linguistic and cultural diversity Writing Systems, Reading Processes, and Cross-Linguistic Influences Hye K. Pae, 2018-07-15 This book provides readers with a unique array of scholarly reflections on the writing systems of Chinese Japanese and Korean in relation to reading processes and data driven interpretations of cross language transfer Distinctively broad in scope topics addressed in this volume include word reading with respect to orthographic phonological morphological and semantic processing as well as cross linguistic influences on reading in English as a second language or a foreign language Given that the three focal scripts have unique orthographic features not found in other languages Chinese as logography Japanese with multi scripts and Korean as non Roman alphasyllabary chapters expound script universal and script specific reading processes As a means of scaling up the body of knowledge traditionally focused on Anglocentric reading research the scientific accounts articulated in this volume importantly expand the field's current theoretical frameworks of word processing to theory building with regard to these three languages Second Language Writing Systems Vivian Cook, Benedetta Bassetti, 2005-05-23 Second

Language Writing Systems looks at how people learn and use a second language writing system arguing that they are affected by characteristics of the first and second writing systems to a certain extent independently of the languages involved This book presents for the first time the effects of writing systems on language reading and writing and on language awareness and provides a new platform for discussing bilingualism biliteracy and writing systems The approach is interdisciplinary with contributions not only from applied linguists and psychologists but also corpus linguists educators and phoneticians A variety of topics are covered from handwriting to spelling word recognition to the mental lexicon and language textbooks to metalinguistic awareness Though most of the studies concern adult L2 learners and users other populations covered include minority children immersion students and bilingual children While the emphasis is on English as the L2 writing system many other writing systems are analysed as L1 or L2 Arabic Chinese Dutch Gujarati Indonesian Irish Italian and Japanese Approaches that are represented include contrastive analysis transfer poststructuralism connectionism and corpus analysis The readership is SLA and bilingualism researchers students and teachers around the world language teachers will also find much food for thought

The Acquisition of a Second Writing System Rosemary Sassoon,1995 This text ranges widely over the field of different writing systems the attitudes to the act of writing in different cultures and the use and influence of different writing implements

The Japanese Writing System Heath Rose,2017 This is the first book devoted to exploring issues of learning written Japanese focusing on the challenges the writing system poses for the second language learner It weaves together previous research on Japanese second language acquisition and kanji learning with original studies on self regulation and kanji learning strategies It provides the most comprehensive overview of the Japanese writing system and kanji learning to date helps further our understanding of second language writing acquisition and offers new directions for research in the wider fields of language learning strategies motivation and self regulation Each chapter concludes with a brief discussion of the implications of the content of the chapter for the Japanese language learner instructor and researcher It will appeal to researchers of the teaching and learning of Japanese as a foreign second language the Japanese writing system and second language acquisition as well as to instructors and learners of Japanese who are struggling with the teaching and learning of kanji
