The Actor and the Character Vladimir Mirodan, 2018-11-12 Transformative acting remains the aspiration of many an emerging actor and constitutes the achievement of some of the most acclaimed performances of our age. Daniel Day-Lewis as Lincoln, Meryl Streep as Mrs Thatcher, Anthony Hopkins as Hannibal Lecter: the list is extensive and we all have our favourites. But what are the physical and psychological processes which enable actors to create characters so different from themselves? To understand this unique phenomenon Vladimir Mirodan provides both a historical overview of the evolution of notions of character in Western theatre and a stunning contemporary analysis of the theoretical implications of transformative acting. The Actor and the Character surveys the main debates surrounding the concept of dramatic character and, contrary to recent trends, explains why transformative actors conceive their characters as independent of their own personalities. Describes some important techniques used by actors to construct their characters by physical means: work on objects, neutral and character masks, Laban movement analysis, Viewpoints etc. Examines the psychology behind transformative acting from the perspectives of both psychoanalysis and scientific psychology and, based on recent developments in psychology, asks whether transformation is not just acting folklore but may actually entail temporary changes to the brain structures of the actors. The Actor and the Character speaks not only to academics and students studying actor training and acting theory but contributes to current lively academic debates around character This is a compelling and original exploration of the limits of acting theory and practice psychology and creative work in which Mirodan boldly re examines some of the fundamental assumptions of actor training and some basic tenets of theatre practice to ask What happens when one of us becomes somebody else Actors Directory and Stage Manual ,1925 The National Review ,1885 The Academy ,1876 The Dublin University Magazine ,1877 Old Shrines and Ivy William Winter,1892 The Truth Seeker ,1930 The Nineteenth Century and After ,1914 The American Annual Cyclopædia and Register of Important Events of the Year ... ,1873 The Theatre in England: Some of Its Shortcomings and Possibilities. ...
