poets namely Oodgeroo Noonuccal formerly Kath Walker 1920 1993 and Lionel Fogarty 1958 and two African American Black Arts poets namely Amiri Baraka formerly Everett LeRoi Jones 1934 2014 and Sonia Sanchez 1943 to demonstrate their role in the struggle for civil and human rights of their peoples from the 1960s The book demonstrates commonalities and differences in the strategies of these poets literary and political resistance These poet activists though ethnically diverse and geographically dispersed share comparable socio political concerns and aspirations Their activism is not a reflection of a single ideological current but a bricolage of many ideologies and perspectives They have engaged in trans Pacific political movements and transgressed the borders of any one ideological territory It is important to establish Aboriginal and African American trans Pacific communication because these poets have collaborated and engaged in global politics whether in the form of Garveyism or the transnation Their poetries are characterized by an irresistible drive towards international rhizomatic collaboration and engagement This is a transcontinental literary influence exerted by African American poets on Aboriginal poets during the 1960s and beyond

Australian National Bibliography, 1995 Reading to Live Lorraine Wilson, 2002 Reading is not an end in itself As Lorraine Wilson reminds us We read to do something else to follow directions to make something to relax to learn about community events reading is social practice We read to live according to our individual interests and needs So it makes no sense to separate the teaching of reading from the lives of children Unfortunately in many state mandated curricula that relationship has been lost In Reading to Live Lorraine Wilson makes a strong case for preserving integrated holistic reading programs debunking the belief in one size fits all instruction and taking us inside classrooms to demonstrate progressive meaning centered teaching She offers easy to use strategies that build upon the life experiences and language that children bring with them to school Most important she expands upon the reading practices of Luke and Freebody's Four Resources Model code breaker text participant text user and text analyst and details many techniques for developing these practices through holistic integrated learning In preparation for today's world children need more from their reading programs than just learning how to break the code they need to engage with all reading practices especially critical literacy With tips on physically arranging classrooms techniques for effectively grouping children as well as advice on organizing precious class time Wilson ensures that teachers have the tools to tailor their reading programs to the lives of the children they teach

Child, Nation, Race and Empire Shurlee Swain, Margot Hillel, 2010-09-15 In the second half of the nineteenth century prominent English child rescuers reconstituted the vulnerable body of the child at risk as central to the survival of nation race and empire The book explains how the project contributed to the neglect and abuse disclosed in recent enquiries into the past treatment of children in out of home care
