The New Oil Stakes:

The New Oil Stakes Jean Marie Chevalier, 1975 Trillion-dollar Stake Of Carbon Neutrality, The: Energy Infrastructures In Hong Kong And The Greater Bay Area Sam Liao Cooke, Yuan Xu, 2024-06-18 The world has been witnessing an accelerating momentum toward carbon neutrality with almost all major countries onboard The stakes are extremely high with over US 100 trillion in investments needed to achieve net zero emissions This book delves into this intricate multi trillion dollar landscape of opportunities and challenges The detailed project level examination in this book will provide direct insights for interested parties to position themselves Focusing on the Guangdong Hong Kong Macau Greater Bay Area GBA home to 86 million people and a 1.7 trillion economy the narrative unfolds against the backdrop of China's commitment to carbon neutrality by 2060 as well as their respective positions next to the rest of the world in the race to carbon neutrality For the GBA and Hong Kong carbon neutrality corresponds to nearly a US 1 trillion stake in energy infrastructures This book meticulously dissects the trillion dollar stake from the bottom up The energy sector is destined to experience fundamental changes in the coming decades demand for a vast number of new infrastructures will only grow while many existing fossil fuel infrastructures may become obsolete Jobs money and regions are expected to shift dramatically with winners and losers This book documents and analyzes individual projects covering fossil fuel electric and CO2 infrastructures The impacts on existing infrastructures and the demand of future ones will be quantitatively examined to diagnose the stake in detail Gaps will be evaluated and the necessary pace of changes in the next three decades will be sketched The trillion dollar stake will be discussed about its associated significant challenges and opportunities Tailored for policy makers businesses and decision makers navigating the carbon neutral landscape this book is an invaluable resource for professionals industry players and academic courses addressing energy resources climate change and CO2 mitigation America's Stake in International Investments Cleona Lewis, Karl T. Schlotterbeck, 1938 Oil, Power, and War Matthieu Auzanneau, 2020-02-20 The story of oil is one of hubris fortune betrayal and destruction It is the story of a resource that has been undeniably central to the creation of our modern culture and ever present during the darkest exploits of empire the world over For the past 150 years oil has become the most essential ingredient for economic military and political power And it has brought us to our present moment in which political leaders and the fossil fuel industry consider extraordinary and extraordinarily dangerous policy on a world stage marked by shifting power bases Upending the conventional wisdom by crafting a people's history award winning journalist Matthieu Auzanneau deftly traces how oil became a national and then global addiction outlines the enormous consequences of that addiction sheds new light on major historical and contemporary figures and raises new questions about stories we thought we knew well What really sparked the oil crises in the 1970s the shift away from the gold standard at Bretton Woods or even the financial crash of 2008 How has oil shaped the events that have defined our times two world wars the Cold War the Great Depression ongoing wars in the Middle East the advent of neoliberalism and the Great

Recession among them With brutal clarity Oil Power and War exposes the heavy hand oil has had in all of our lives and illustrates how much heavier that hand could get during the increasingly desperate race to control the last of the world's easily and cheaply extractable reserves Industry's Vital Stake in Energy Management United States. Department of Commerce. Office of Energy Programs, 1974 The Geopolitics of Energy Jean-Pierre Favennec, 2011 Rarely has the world's energy sector known such a complicated and fragile environment as that being experienced in 2011 Energy demand is increasing rapidly because of growth in the developing countries It is largely met by fossil fuels oil natural gas and coal and also by hydraulic and nuclear power The use of all these forms of energy now gives rise to controversy A year after the uncontrollable oil leaks from the Macondo well in the Gulf of Mexico the consequences of the accident are still being debated The development of shale gas currently the source of half natural gas production in the United States meets strong opposition in a number of European countries Even more serious the accident at Fukushima has put into question the future development of nuclear power particularly in Europe but also in the USA There is considerable criticism of the use of coal which is the source for most of the energy needs in China and a number of developing countries because of its emissions of CO₂ and other pollutants Even traditional biomass whose use leads to deforestation and to respiratory diseases and the development of hydraulic power are the subject of debate How should one judge between these different energies How can decisions be taken between reducing consumption and increasing production What is the future for new renewable energies These are the issues at stake on the energy sector This book appears just at the right time to provide clear and well documented replies to the questions that all of us as energy users are posing How are the different forms of energy produced What does the future hold for them Who are the players active in the energy scene What are the supply constraints What is the impact of the strong growth in India and China on energy resources The book is in two parts The first sets out the major characteristics of the energy sector The second provides an analysis of the global energy issues region by region and details the geopolitical aspects This work is well illustrated and accessible to all as it does not require any specific prior knowledge It will particularly interest readers seeking a global perspective of a sector that is fundamental both to our economy and also for our international policies
