The Construction Of Social Reality:

The Construction of Social Reality John R. Searle, 1995 John Searle has a distinctive intellectual style. It combines razor sharp analysis with a swaggering chip on the shoulder impudence that many of his opponents might find intolerably abrasive were it not for the good humour that pervades all he writes. This is a man who likes a good philosophical brawl. New Scientist

John Searle and the Construction of Social Reality Joshua Rust, 2005-12-15 In 1995 John Searle published The Construction of Social Reality a text which not only promises to disclose the institutional backdrop against which speech takes place but initiate a new philosophy of society. Since then The Construction of Social Reality has been subject to a flurry of criticism. While many of Searle's interlocutors share the sense that the text marks an important breakthrough he has time and again accused critics of misunderstanding his claims. Despite Searle's characteristic crispness and clarity there remains some confusion among both philosophers and sociologists regarding the significance of his proposals. This book traces some of the high points of this dialogue leveraging Searle's own clarifications to propose a new way of understanding the text. In particular Joshua Rust looks to Max Weber in suggesting that Searle has articulated an ideal type. In locating The Construction of Social Reality under the umbrella of one of sociology's founding fathers this book not only makes Searle's text more accessible to the readers in the social sciences but presents Max Weber as a thinker worthy of philosophical reconsideration. Moreover the recharacterization of Searle's claims in terms of the ideal type helps facilitate a comparison between Searle and other social theorists such as Talcott Parsons.

The Mystery of Capital and the Construction of Social Reality Barry Smith, David Mark, Isaac Ehrlich, 2015-11-05 John Searle's The Construction of Social Reality and Hernando de Soto's The Mystery of Capital shifted the focus of current thought on capital and economic development to the cultural and conceptual ideas that underpin market economies and that are taken for granted in developed nations. This collection of essays assembles 21 philosophers, economists and political scientists to help readers understand these exciting new theories.

The Social Construction of Reality Peter L. Berger, Thomas Luckmann, 2011-04-26 A watershed event in the field of sociology this text introduced a major breakthrough in the sociology of knowledge and sociological theory generally. George Simpson American Sociological Review. In this seminal book Peter L. Berger and Thomas Luckmann examine how knowledge forms and how it is preserved and altered within a society. Unlike earlier theorists and philosophers Berger and Luckmann go beyond intellectual history and focus on commonsense everyday knowledge, the proverbs, morals, values and beliefs shared among ordinary people. When first published in 1966 this systematic theoretical treatise introduced the term social construction effectively creating a new thought and transforming Western philosophy.

The Nature of Social Reality Emanuele Fadda, Alfredo Givigliano, Claudia Stancati, 2014-10-17 Searle's theory of social reality is increasingly meeting with worldwide recognition and is undoubtedly the most prominent theory of social ontology at least in the post analytical tradition even if actual research in this domain is engaged in critical confrontation with it. Searle's approach continues to shape the debate but his construction is more and more sharply dissected both in its details and in its general assumptions Furthermore new perspectives not rooted in the analytical SCIENCE SKEPTICISM Simona-Nicoleta VULPE,2025-01-01

Mistrust towards mainstream science and evidence based expertise or science skepticism is embedded in postmodernity Vaccine hesitancy and climate change skepticism are both forms of rejecting expertise and searching for alternative bodies of knowledge In this sociological research I studied the social construction of skeptical discourses on vaccination and climate change One of the key findings of this research is that vaccine hesitancy and climate change skepticism as skeptical discourses do not support the postmodern claim for a plurality of knowledge Skeptics of vaccination and climate change do not contest the epistemic advantages of science but they strongly reject mainstream science and official authorities Instead they support experts who are marginal within the scientific community and promote their contrarian claims as factually true Discourses on vaccination and climate change that are skeptical of mainstream science are socially constructed using three types of resources selective trust temporal agency and religious agency This is a key similarity that contributes to expanding the knowledge on the social construction of skepticism and the specific strategies used to reject mainstream science Another similarity is that skeptics of both vaccination and climate change structure their discourse around themes that are anchored in systemic problems causing risks and vulnerabilities for society at large and for particular social categories Numerous problems and vulnerabilities emerged during the COVID 19 pandemic as regards public health measures and economic disruptions thus consolidating the vaccine hesitant discourse and skepticism of a just green transition In terms of dissimilarities the climate skeptical discourse is underdeveloped in Romania in comparison with the vaccine hesitant discourse This is related to the neglect manifested by Romanian public authorities and media representatives on this topic contrasting with policy proposals and public debates on vaccination My research contributes to overcoming the knowledge deficit model by showing that skepticism of mainstream science is not an individual problem caused by deficient cognitive processes but is a socially constructed phenomenon that gains legitimacy because of societal problems and systemic dysfunctions

Black Separatism and Social Reality Raymond L. Hall,1977 Black Separatism and Social Reality Rhetoric and Reason deals with the contemporary debate over black separatism in America It brings together for the first time many of the perspectives ideas orientations and ideologies that all directly or indirectly address the question of black separatism pro and con from the vantage point of their own realities It raises fundamental issues that have recurred throughout the last century and continue unabated today such as whether black Americans should seek their political destiny apart from white Americans or whether economic growth within the

The Reality of Social Construction Dave Elder-Vass, 2012 Social construction is a central metaphor in contemporary social science yet it is used and understood in widely divergent and indeed conflicting ways by different thinkers Most commonly it is seen as radically opposed to realist social theory Dave Elder Vass argues that social scientists should be both realists and social constructionists and that coherent versions of these ways of thinking are entirely compatible with each other This book seeks to transform prevailing understandings of the relationship between realism and constructionism It offers a thorough ontological analysis of the phenomena of language discourse culture and knowledge and shows how this justifies a realist version of social constructionism In doing so however it also develops an analysis of these phenomena that is significant in its own right Provided by publisher
