The History Of Hurling:

The History of Hurling Seamus King, 1996-10-01 Updated to cover the Clare and Wexford triumphs of 1995 and 1996 this history of the Irish sport of hurling is mainly devoted to its development since the foundation of the GAA in 1884 It also deals with issues such as the geography of hurling and the game overseas A History of Hurling Séamus J. King, 1996-01-01

The Shaping of Modern Ireland Eugenio Biagini, Daniel Mulhall, 2016-02-01 Originally published in 1960 and edited by Conor Cruise O'Brien The Shaping of Modern Ireland was a seminal work surveying the lives of prominent early twentieth century figures who influenced Irish affairs in the years between the death of Charles Stewart Parnell in 1891 and the Easter Rising of 1916 The chapters were written by leading historians and commentators from the Ireland of the 1950s some of whom personally knew the subjects of their essays This volume draws its inspiration from that seminal work Written by some of today's leading figures from the world of Irish history politics journalism and the arts it revisits a crucial phase in the country's history one that culminated in the Easter Rising and the Revolution when everything changed utterly With chapters on men and women of the stature of Carson Connolly and Markievicz but also industrialists such as Guinness who contributed to shaping modern Ireland in the social and economic sphere this book offers an important contribution to the renewal of the debate on the country's history Indigenous, Traditional, and Folk Sports Mariann Vaczi, Alan Bairner, 2023-10-06 This is the first book to focus on indigenous traditional and folk sports and sporting cultures It examines the significance of sporting cultures that have survived the emergence and diffusion of western sports and have carved out a unique position not only in spite of modernity but also in response to it Presenting case studies from around the world including from Europe Asia Africa and the Americas this book draws on multidisciplinary work from sociology anthropology history cultural studies and political science exploring key themes in the social sciences including nationalism identity decolonisation and gender From Turkish oil wrestling kabaddi in South Asia Iroquois lacrosse to wushu and sumo in East Asia and various European traditional sports these sporting practices continue to capture the indigenous imagination on the margins of the western hegemonic sport complex Situated in the fissures between the local the national and the global between the archaic and the modern and between ritual and record they inhabit a liminal space of transformation as they assume new cultural and political meanings offering important perspectives on the complexities and contradictions of modernity The volume's decolonial perspective lies in its promotion of indigenous and subaltern worldviews through their traditional movement cultures on the margins of the western hegemonic sport complex This is a fascinating reading for anybody with an interest in sport nationalism Indigenous studies heritage and folklore studies anthropology social and cultural history or globalisation The Gaelic Athletic Association, 1884-2009 Mike Cronin, William Murphy, Paul Rouse, 2009 This book which in May 2010 won the North American Society for Sports History NASSH award for the best edited volume published in 2009 brings together some of the leading writers in the area of Irish history to assess the importance of the Gaelic Athletic Association GAA in Irish society since its founding in 1884 and it is the first key book to center on the GAA and Irish history While there has been much written about the GAA the bulk of work has concentrated on the sporting aspects of the Association the great games and famous players rather than the role that the GAA has played in wider Irish history The chapters cover a large chronological span dating back to the origins of hurling through the foundation of the GAA its role in the political life of the nation and ending with an assessment of some of the main issues facing the GAA into the twenty first century Importantly the book also offers original and insightful work on areas including the class make up of the GAA the centrality of Amateurism in the Association the role of the Irish language and the ways in which films have featured Gaelic games

Emigrant Players Paul Darby, David Hassan, 2013-10-18 Ireland and its inhabitants have often been described as being sports mad As a relatively small geographical entity Ireland north and south has produced a disproportionately high number of world class sports men and women who have excelled at the highest levels of their chosen sport The significance of sport in Ireland though extends far beyond the achievements of such individuals Sport has historically assumed a centrality in the lives of the island s inhabitants a fact that can be measured by the numbers and commitment of participants as well as the emotional and financial investment of fans This book seeks to address the ways in which Irish aptitude and ebullience for sport has manifested itself in those parts of the world that have or have had relatively large Irish communities The first part of the book explores the diffusion of Gaelic games to a number of centres of Irish immigration and examines the social economic political and psychological impact that these games had in helping the Diaspora adjust to life in what were often inhospitable environs The second part of the book extends the analysis by examining the contribution of Irish sports men and women to the sports culture that they encountered in their new homes and assessing the ways in which their involvement in these sports allowed them to come to terms with and make their way in their new locales This book was previously published as a special issue of the journal Sport in Society

Iceland - Ireland, 2022-02-07 Iceland and Ireland two North Atlantic islands on the periphery of Europe share a long history that reaches back to the ninth century Direct contact between the islands has ebbed and flowed like their shared Atlantic tides over the subsequent millennium with long blanks and periods of apparently very little exchange transit or contact These relational and regularly ruptured histories discontinuities and disposessions are discussed here less to cover again the well trodden ground of our national traditions Rather this volume productively illuminates how a variety of memory modes expressed in trans cultural productions and globalized genre forms such as museums cultures crime novels the lyric poem the medieval codex or historical fiction operate in multi directional ways as fluid transnational agents of change in and between the two islands At the same time there is an alertness to the ways in which physical political and linguistic isolation and exposure have also made these islands places of forgetting
