The Nigger Question The Negro Question Crofts Classics:

The Problem of Freedom Thomas C. Holt, 1992 The Jamaican slave revolt of 1831-32 precipitated the abolition of slavery throughout the British colonial empire. A century later the labor rebellion of 1938 marked the beginning of that empire's end. Each event embraced a particular form of emancipation: at issue in the first revolt was the freedom of the individual slave; at issue in the second was the freedom of the society itself. The century that separated these watershed moments in British colonial history was one of extraordinary transformations in British ideology in economic and social policy and in the lives of Jamaican freed people and their descendants. In The Problem of Freedom Thomas C. Holt offers an intriguing analysis of this period exploring the meaning and reality of freedom in the context of slave emancipation in Jamaica, the largest West Indian colony of the nineteenth century's major world power.

The Racial Contract Charles W. Mills, 2014-05-29 The Racial Contract puts classic Western social contract theory deadpan to extraordinary radical use. With a sweeping look at the European expansionism and racism of the last five hundred years, Charles W. Mills demonstrates how this peculiar and unacknowledged contract has shaped a system of global European domination: how it brings into existence whites and non-whites, full persons and sub-persons; how it influences white moral theory and moral psychology; and how this system is imposed on non-whites through ideological conditioning and violence. The Racial Contract argues that the society we live in is a continuing white supremacist state. Holding up a mirror to mainstream philosophy, this provocative book explains the evolving outline of the racial contract from the time of the New World conquest and subsequent colonialism to the written slavery contract to the separate but equal system of segregation in the twentieth century United States. According to Mills, the contract has provided the theoretical architecture justifying an entire history of European atrocity against non-whites, from David Hume's and Immanuel Kant's claims that blacks had inferior cognitive power to the Holocaust to the kind of imperialism in Asia that was demonstrated by the Vietnam War. Mills suggests that the ghettoization of philosophical work on race is no accident. This work challenges the assumption that mainstream theory is itself raceless. Just as feminist theory has revealed orthodox political philosophy's invisible white male bias, Mills's explication of the racial contract exposes its racial underpinnings.

The Caribbean Race Reader Victoria J. Collis-Buthelezi, Aaron Kamugisha, 2024-09-11 This book is the first critical anthology in English on the history and legacy of race in the Caribbean. It brings together the major debates, lines of inquiry and theories around race and racism that have emerged out of the Caribbean from the beginning of European colonization at the end of the fifteenth century to the period of decolonization in the aftermath of World War II. This critical anthology stakes out the unique contribution made by the region to the global history of race. The Caribbean Race Reader provides students and scholars of the region with vital access to some of the most important contributions on race and Caribbean society, many of which are difficult to access and assembles them together as part of a series of key debates. At a time when the searing realities of race and antiblack racism stand out as global existential crises, this volume both documents the Caribbean's important contribution to global histories of race and provides an excellent overview of the quest by the region's radical intelligentsia to undo racism's contemporary legacies Selections from the Essays Michel de Montaigne,1973 Provides answers to the most common problems encountered by students in the writing of history research papers This guide employs a practical approach beginning with the first task selecting a topic and takes the student through how to prepare a bibliography without becoming bogged down in the nature and philosophy of history Carlyle Studies Annual ,2009 Catalog of Copyright Entries.
