Mullumbimby Melissa Lucashenko, 2013 When Jo Breen uses her divorce settlement to buy a neglected property in the Byron Bay hinterland she is hoping for a tree change and a blossoming connection to the land of her Aboriginal ancestors What she discovers instead is sharp dissent from her teenage daughter trouble brewing from unimpressed white neighbors and a looming Native Title war between the local Bundjalung families When Jo unexpectedly finds love on one side of the Native Title divide she quickly learns that living on country is only part of the recipe for the Good Life Told with dark humor and a sharp satirical eye Mullumbimby is a modern novel about romantic love and cultural warfare set against an ancient land

Transport for Suburbia Paul Mees, 2009-12 The need for effective public transport is greater than ever in the 21st century With countries like China and India moving towards mass automobility we face the prospects of an environmental and urban health disaster unless alternatives are found It is time to move beyond the automobile age But while public transport has worked well in the dense cores of some big cities the problem is that most residents of developed countries now live in dispersed suburbs and smaller cities and towns These places usually have little or no public transport and most transport commentators have given up on the task of changing this it all seems too hard This book argues that the secret of European style public transport lies in a generalizable model of network planning that has worked in places as diverse as rural Switzerland the Brazilian city of Curitiba and the Canadian cities of Toronto and Vancouver It shows how this model can be adapted to suburban exurban and even rural areas to provide a genuine alternative to the car and outlines the governance funding and service planning policies that underpin the success of the world's best public transport systems Back cover
